This publication contains the all the names which appeared in my previous published works (With names from my Gazateer research and my transcription of the Orielson Rent Book 1895 - 1941) as well as in my unpublished research. Special mention must be made of the Rev John H Richards of St Twynells Stackpole & St Petrox Rector of Bosherton Group of parishes who kindly gave me permission to include the details from those parish registers which he had compiled.

With regard to dates -

In Britain as well as in many parts of Europe the official New Year began on the 25th of March -Lady Day. This date was supposed to be the date when an angel announced to Mary that she was carrying the child Jesus. Although many other countries changed earlier, Britain did not change to the system used now till 1752. You will notice that as late as the 1890,in the Orielson Rent book that many of the tenancies started on Lady Day. Also in some of the earlier entries of the Slebech records two consecutive years are quoted for records dated between January 1st and March 25th.

Guy Bishop of St David's----- Boniface IX Pope 1402. Guy Bishop of St David's etc. to William Rowe and Margaret Hylton, etc.

We have received Letters of the venerable father in Christ Francis, by divine compassion cardinal priest with the title of St. Susannah penancer general of our lord the pope, presented on your behalf, containing this series of words

To the venerable etc. the bishop of St. Davids or his vicar in spiritualities Francis etc. (as above), greeting etc.

On behalf of William Rowe and Margaret Hilton, a wedded couple of your diocese, a petition has been offered to us containing that some time ago they not being aware of any impediment existing at the present time according to the custom of the country, and consummated this by connection of the flesh and begat offspring. But afterwards it came to the knowledge of this couple that they are united with each other within the fourth degree of consanguinity. And verily since if there were to be a divorce made between them grave scandals in all probability would result there from, the same wedded persons have caused humble supplication to be made for provision to be mercifully made for them upon these points by the apostolic see. We therefore desiring provision to be made for the saving of their souls and for the avoiding of such scandals, by authority of the lord pope, the care of whose penitentiary we bear, and by his special mandate hereon made to us by the oracle of the living voice, commit it to your circumspection that if it be so, if the said woman have not for this cause been ravished from any one, to deal with these married people that notwithstanding the impediment of such consanguinity be legitimate.

Dated at Rome at St. Peter, 29 April, in the eleventh year of the pontificate of lord Boniface IX the Pope.

We mercifully grant you a dispensation according to the form and effect of the before written Letters, by the authority committed to us in this behalf, in order that notwithstanding the impediment of such consanguinity you may lawfully remain in your marriage at another time in fact contracted between you, decreeing the offspring begotten and to be begotten of the marriage itself to be legitimate.

In witness whereof etc. Dated in our manor of Lantefey, 21 September 1402, etc.

ap Gruffudd David 1283 The Welsh, prince David ap Gruffudd was hanging, drawing, and quartering. He had been a hostage in the English court during his youth, growing up with Edward I and for several years fighting alongside Edward against his brother ap Gruffudd Llywelyn, the Prince of Wales. Llywelyn had won recognition of the title, Prince of Wales, from Edward's father King Henry III, and in 1264, both Edward and his father had been imprisoned by Llywelyn's ally, de Montfort, Simon the Earl of Leicester. Edward's enmity towards Llywelyn ran deep. When David returned to the side of his brother Llywelyn and attacked the English Hawarden Castle, Edward saw this as both a personal betrayal and a military setback. His subsequent punishment of David was specifically designed to be harsher than any previous form of capital punishment, and was part of an overarching strategy to eliminate Welsh independence. David was drawn for the crime of treason, hanged for the crime of homicide, disemboweled for the crime of sacrilege, and beheaded and quartered for plotting against the King. When receiving his sentencing, the judge ordered David "to be drawn to the gallows as a traitor to the King who made him a Knight, to be hanged as the murderer of the gentleman taken in the Castle of Hawarden to have his limbs burnt because he had profaned by assassination the solemnity of Christ's passion and to have his quarters dispersed through the country because he had in different places compassed the death of his lord the King."

David's head joined that of his brother Llywelyn, killed in a skirmish months earlier, atop the Tower of London, where their skulls were visible for many years. His quartered body parts were sent to four English towns for display. Edward's son, Edward II, assumed the title Prince of Wales.

ap John Walter 1486, 30 July. On 30 July 1486 at Lamphey a letter, the tenour of which follows, was exhibited to H. bishop of St. Davids. --To the venerable father in Christ etc. the bishop St David's or his vicar general in spiritualities.Julian by the mercy of the Lord bishop of Ostia sendeth greeting and sincere charity in the Lord. A petition offered unto us on behalf of Walter ap John of Stacorse layman of your diocese contained that by the instigation of the devil he lately killed one Walter Roger, priest of the said place, his Spiritual father who had baptized one of his sons, on which account he falls under the sentence of excommunication pronounced in general terms against such as do these things, upon which things he has caused supplication to be humbly made, setting forth the same, for a due remedy to be mercifully provided for him by the apostolic see. We therefore by authority of the lord pope the care of whose penitentiary we bear and by his special mandate upon this made to us by the oracle of the living voice commit to your prudence that if this is so when he shall have gone by all the larger churches of that place where so great a crime was perpetrated, naked and unshod with only his breeches on, bearing a rod in his hand, and a yoke about his neck if he can with safety and caused himself to be beaten before the doors of the churches aforesaid and with the priests of the same singing a penitential psalm, when the multitude of the people in these is greatest, publicly confessing his sin, and when he shall have adequately satisfied, if he have not already done so, the church which the murdered priest served, and when he and his heirs have been deprived for ever of any fee or right of patronage he hold of the church (and lest the memory of the punishment be too short let his children on this account be deemed incapable of holding an ecclesiastical benefice unless with them there be a merciful dispensation upon this by the apostolic see, you shall absolve this layman from the said sentence and such guilt and excess of priesticide in the accustomed form of the church and enjoin on him therefore by the authority aforesaid, such penance as may be to him for salvation and to others for terror.

ap Owen Lewis 1486 10 November Acts before the reverend father Hugh aforesaid in his manor of Lantfey of the diocese of St Davids had and begun on 10 November in the year as above and continued day by day in a Pembroke cause of an error or heretical pravity against one Burley Sir Roger of Ireland then present For which Sir Roger indeed the same reverend father - because Sir Roger himself as the said father asserted on the relation of faithfulmen had been and is notoriously and in manifold ways defamed with him and evidently and on probable conjectures suspected of and upon divers errors, opinions, and articles savoring of heresy met expressly contrary to the determination of holy mother church by himself Sir Roger held and publicly spoken and preached, as was said - peremptorily fixed, appointed, and assigned a day on Saturday next after the feast of the Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary next then following namely 9 December then next, to appear before the same reverend father in the chapel of the Blessed Virgin Mary situated within the said manor of Lantfey to answer upon such errors, opinions, and articles, as is aforesaid, then to be objected against him to the mere correction of his soul, of the mere office of the said reverend father and also on information, and further to do and receive in that behalf what shall be just, there being then present there Master Gely Richard Canon of Abergwilly college, and William, prior of Pill, with other discreet men besides who were there. When indeed the Saturday abovesaid was come, the same Sir Roger the Irishman appeared for trial in person in chapel aforesaid before the said reverend father then sitting in judgment for a tribunal and thereupon the same Sir Roger when required made oath on the most holy gospels to the said reverend father in regard to speaking the truth and answering faithfully upon all points then to be objected against him and enquired of from him concerning and savouring of the matter of errors or heresy. Against this Sir Roger the Irishman indeed, so sworn, for the mere correction of his soul the same reverend father of his office objected and articulated the articles underwritten. Which articles indeed follow and are these First of all that the same Sir Roger in presence of one Master ap Ris John in the house of Nicholas White of Pembroke there being then present there the said White Nicholas and his wife White Katharine by name Tyler Thomas of Tenby and Baret John with some others then present, publicly arguing with the said Master John said that he would and could make the Lord's body in the time of the mass for those present and for himself those bones would be bread alone. Also that contrariwise he would at his pleasure sometimes make it as far as related to himself and not to those present Which articles indeed, together with other errors besides obstinately adhered to there in the presence of those afore written, he then confessed that he had said, which errors, truly, together with all errors against the Faith and definition of the Holy Roman church, in writing, before the reverend father aforesaid and his commissary there namely Master Lewis ap Owen, doctor of decrees and archdeacon of Cardigan, with all the others then called to this, he publicly abjured in form following -

In the name of God, Amen!

I, Sir Roger, chaplain, now of the diocese of St David's before you Hugh etc. Thomas heresies and errors which of late before Master John ap Res and others then present I obstinately asserted and cherished in the house of Nicholas White at Pembroke etc. I verily abjure and the said erroneous articles and all other articles whatsoever, erroneous and contrary to the holy Faith, and all heresies, here in these writings and expressly, I humbly and devoutly renounce, supplicating the reverend fatherhood to deign to impart unto me the benefit of absolution from every sentence of excommunication passed by the holy fathers against such wanderers, subjecting me to every correction and reformation whatsoever adequate to and of right required on account of the premises. And him the said reverend father absolved in due form of law and enjoined on him a fitting penance in that behalf which he faithfully fulfilled publicly in the church of St. Mary, Pembroke. The Episcopal Register of St Davids 1397 - 1518

ap Tewdwr Rhys 1077 King of Deheubarth,-Rhys ab Tewdwr Mawr ab Einion ab Owain ab Hywel Dda ab Cadell ab Rhodri Mawr ab Mervyn Vrych ab Gwriad ab Elidr ab Sandde ab Alser ab Tegid ab Gwyar ab Dwywg ab Llywarch Hen ab Elidr Lydanwyn ab Meirchion Gul ab Grwst Ledlwm ab Ceneu ab Coel Godebogone. He spent many years of his life in Armorica, where he sought refuge from the princes of Glamorgan who had obtained possession of the sovereignty of South Wales. He returned from exile in 1077, and laid claim to the throne, when he was elected prince of South Wales by the unanimous voice of the people. In 1080, he formed an alliance with ab Cynan, Gruffydd and their combined forces defeated the army of ab Caradawg iTrahaearn in the battle of Carno, where that prince was slain, and his death confirmed Rhys ab Tewdwr and Gruffydd ab Cynan on the thrones of their ancestors, In the same year, Rhys ab Tewdwr invaded the territories of ab Gwrgant,lestyn and destroyed the castles of Denis Powys, Llanilltyd, and Dindryvan, and lestyn retaliated by devastating

Ystrad Towy and Brecheiniawg ? from whence he returned home with great spoil. In 1087, Cadwgan, Madog, and Rhiryd, the three sons of Bleddyn ab Cynvyn, planned an insurrection against Rhys, who not being prepared to meet them, was obliged to flee to Ireland, but he soon returned to South Wales, with a powerful fleet, and was joined by many of his subjects. In the battle which ensued at Llechryd in Radnorshire, Madog and Rhiryd were slain, and Cadwgan escaped by a precipitate flight, leaving to Rhys a complete Victory, who then liberally rewarded and dismissed his Irish auxiliaries. In 1088, Llewelyn and Einion, the sons of Collwyn, Lord of Pembroke, rose in rebellion against Rhys, and were joined by ab Meredydd, Gruffydd another chieftain of the country. They were however defeated with great loss at Llandudoch in Pembrokeshire, and Gruffydd was taken prisoner, and put to death as a traitor, the two others having saved themselves by flight. Einion betook himself to Iestyn ab Gwrgant, who was then in arms against Rhys, and to enable them to carry on the war with the best means of success, Einion was sent to the English court to obtain the aid of a mercenary force, Fitzhamon. Robert agreed to join Iestyn with a body of Norman troops, and in 1089, Iestyn with this assistance marched against Rhys ab Tewdwr, and defeated him in a bloody battle at a place called Hirwaen Wrgant, in Breconshire. The aged and gallant prince was pursued and taken in Glyn Rhoddriai, and beheaded at a place, called from that circumstance Pen Rhys, being then upwards of ninety-two years of age. By his wife, who was the daughter of ab Cynvyn, Rhiwallon he had two sons, Gronwy who was slain in the same battle which proved so fatal to his father, and Gruffydd, who was then very young, and afterwards succeeded him. He also had two daughters Nest and Angharad Rhys ab Tewdwr

Mawr was the head of one of the five Royal Tribes, whose arms are, " Gules, a lion rampant or, within a bordure indented." Brut y Tywysogion, Myv. Arch. ii. 524

There was a suggestion that an agreement had been reached between William I and Rhys ap Tewdwr, King of Deheubarth, whereby Rhys should retain his authority in his own Kingdom. ap Tewdwr Rhys was killed near Brecon whereupon after his death the Norman Marcher Lords invaded and founded the marcher Lordships of Cardigan, Pembroke, Brecon and Glamorgan. They held the land they conquered by right of conquest and not as grants from the King, and so ruled them as if they were Kings themselves. J. Graham Jones The History of Wales

Ap Rhys Ap Tewdwr Gruffydda 1090 prince of South Wales. He was an infant at the death of his father in 1090 and for safety was brought up in Ireland. In 1113, he crossed over to Wales where he was joyfully received, but his plans for recovering his principality from the hands of the Normans not being matured, he was obliged to flee for refuge to ab Cynan Gruffydd in North Wales. That prince having been gained over to deliver Gruffydd into the hands of the English King, he anticipated the treachery and breach of hospitality, and escaped by sea to South Wales, where he immediately attacked the English, and Normans, and Flemings, whom he defeated in numerous battles, and he continued in arms until the peace made with Henry 1 in 1121. He received a summons in the year 1135, to appear before King Stephen, which he answered by arming his men, and expelling the foreigners, who had taken possession of Cardiganshire and Pembrokeshire, of whom he slew above 3000. He celebrated the recovery of his dominions by a splendid feast at his palace of Ystrad Towy, to which he invited all who would come in peace from, every part of Wales. Every variety of meat and liquors was provided with the greatest profusion, and mental entertainment was also afforded by the poets and musicIans, who attended in great numbers, and were munificently rewarded, besides every kind of representations, and manly games. This feast continued forty days, and was honoured by the presence of Gruffydd ab Cynan, and his sons. Gruffydd ab Rhys spent the remainder of his reign in reforming and enforcing the laws. He died in 1136, greatly lamented, and is called by the historian Caradawg of Llangarvan, the bravest, the wisest, the most merciful, the most generous, the most just, of all the princes of Wales. He was succeeded by his son Rhys. Brut y Tywysogion. Myv. Arch. Giraldus Cambrensis –The Journey Through Wales c1100, Eminent Welshmen –R Williams 1852

Ap Rhys John 1598 of Rickeston
Brawdy and Scotsborough

Ap Rhys John 1598 of Rickeston
Brawdy and Scotsborough married Perrot

Katherine born in 1530 daughter and sole heiress of Perrot John of Scotsborough, a large mansion in Gumfreston parish, near Tenby, owner of a valuable estate in South Pembrokeshire. The Perrots had held Scotborough since the latter half of the fourteenth century. In 1405 Perrot Thomas of that place negotiated a truce with Glyndwr, Owen and eight years later served as Mayor of Tenby his descendants intermarried with the families of Verney, Wogan of Wiston, Wyrriot of Orielson, and Lloyd of Tenby. This union allied John ap Rice to some of the best known houses in West Wales. As JP he took part in suppressing popish practices to which many Pembrokeshire People still adhered, and in 1592, together with Owen George and Stepneth Alban, caused St Meugan's Chapel on the border of Cemaes and Emlyn to be denuded of superstitious relics and monuments and prepared to prosecute all people still attempting to use the place for religious purposes. John died in 1598 and was buried in Brawdy Church. His wife survived him by nearly 16 years and was buried with her Perrot ancestors in Gumfreston church, where an inscribed slab records that -Parat Katherin wife of Apris John esquier died on 17 September 1614. They had the following children ap Rice Thomas 1598 of Rickeston and Scotsborough was High Sheriff of the county in 1610, and a JP. In 1598 he married Mercer Margaret daughter of Mercer William of Lancashire. She died in childbirth on 1 May 1610 in her 30th year after she had lived 12 years in wedlock with him and borne 10 children of which 7 survived, he then married Alice daughter of Thomas ap John Lewis of Cwngwili near Carmarthen but they had no issue. His will was dated 1650.

ap Rice Perrot 1640 eldest son died during his father's lifetime - last reference found dated March 1640 and his eldest son James ap Rice succeeded his grandfather to the Rickeston and Scotsborough estates.
ap Rice James 1650 was High Sheriff in 1655 and a JP., will dated June 1 1658 proved on 26th July 1660. His wife ap Rice Anne daughter of Sir Rudd Rice of Aberglasney. James and Anne had no children and after Anne's death in 1673 the estate passed to James's brother ap Rice John 1660 married Newsham Elizabeth daughter of Newsham Thomas of Abersannan, Carmarthenshire. John was responsible for inviting the Hughes Rev Stephen who had been evicted from his parish at Meidrin in 1662 for Nonconformity to preach near Brawdwy Church. 1660 he was indicted for pulling down Causeway Mill bridge over the road from Gumfreston to Tenby and in August 1662 sued by the rector of Tenby for non payment of Tithe as he had a messuage and 200 acres of land in the parish on which he grew corn. In 1667-8 he was summoned to appear in the Grand Sessions for non-payment of rent for Park House and the White Close of Kingstowne in the “out-liberties of Tenby” belonging to Lewis James and his wife Lewis Anne of Abernantbychan. John ap Rice died on 2 June 1670 age 37. He was buried in St Mary’s Church Tenby. Elizabeth had difficulty in securing her dower 1670-1 claimed from Rochford William a third of the lands she was entitled to as widow of John ap Rice. The heir was ap Rice James 1670 eldest son of John and Elizabeth. James ap Rice was Bailiff of Tenby 1678 and in 1681-2 Mayor of Tenby. Whilst Mayor he committed a Quaker schoolmaster of Tenby to goal for refusing to take the oath of allegiance, was also a JP. August 6th 1681 he mortgaged Scotsborough and Cornish Down to Dawes Griffith of Bangeston and on 3 Oct 1681 James ap Rice granted Cornish Down and Causey Park except for the quarry and limekiln in the Clicketts to Tenby Corporation. He was then involved in several law suits and quarrels. 1681 July 20 attacked in Tenby by Davids, Thomas gentleman, Meyrick Thomas corviser of Tenby, and David Isaac of Martletwy. - 1682 secured from Owen John of Orieltton a lease of the tithes of Rickeston - but failed to pay rent sued by Owen 1690.-----1684 sued for damages by Laugharne Arthur for slander.----1689 sued by Dawes Griffith for a sum of money. ap Rice James died suddenly in 1692 and was survived by his widow Powell Eleanor daughter of Powell Captain William of Ludchurch and related through her mother Vaughan Marie to the Earls of Carbery.

ap Rice James 1692 James and Eleanor's son inherited the estate but it was in a financial mess with Property mortgaged twice to different people by his father. Rickson John Merchant of Pembroke paid off the mortgages on the understanding that all the estates were conveyed to him absolutely. Rickson Willian Scotsborough was later conveyed by William Rickson in 1764 to his brother-in-law Thomas Revd. Hugh who left it to his son Thomas. William His widow who later married Campbell Matthew cousin of the first Lord Cawder settled it on her nephew. Parry Richard 1810 3 Sept. Richard Parry sold Scotsborough to Owen John of Orielton. 1817 Feb 13 John Owen of Orielton sold Scotsborough to Richards, Jacob of Tenby. By this time Scotsborough was largely ruinous. The West front was Converted into Cottages for working people but about 1824 an epidemic of smallpox broke out in these tenements and the occupiers fled. The building soon after became a total ruin. Rickeston has totally vanished, the site is now part of Brawdy airfield ap Thomas Rice 1484 met future Henry V at Dale-one of the most eminent characters of his age, was the son of ab Gruffydd Thomas who was the son of ab Nicholas Gruffydd, the celebrated patron of the Welsh, bards, and was born in 1451. He received his military education at the court of Burgundy, where he resided for some time with his father. On the death of his elder brothers, he succeeded to the extensive estates of the family, which were greatly augmented by his marriage with Eva, the daughter of ab Gwilym Henry, the powerful and wealthy proprietor of Court Henry in Caermarthenshire. Sir Rice ab Thomas from his ancient lineage and vast Property possessed an influence in South Wales, not unlike that enjoyed by the former princes of that country. He had above eighteen hundred tenants, and among his demesnes were the castles of Carew, Narberth, Emlyn, Abermarlais, Whibley, and several others. His courteous manner, and liberal behaviour, made him so popular, that he was said to be able to bring into the field at a very short notice four or five thousand horse, fully equipped and ready to follow wherever he should lead. In 1485, he arranged the disembarkation of the Earl of Richmond at Milford, whom he accompanied with two thousand horse, and fought for at the battle of Bosworth. The gallant conduct of Sir Rice, which contributed most importantly to the success of the day, was duly appreciated by Henry VII. who immediately made him governor of all Wales, constable and lieutenant of Brecknock, chamberlain of Caermarthen and Cardigan, and seneschal of Builth. Sir Rice was also present at the battle of Stoke, in 1487, in which the partisans of Lambert Simnel were defeated, and his extraordinary courage and activity contributed in a great measure to the success of the King's troops. In 1492, he accompanied the King to France with a body of Welsh forces, whose exploits are highly extolled by Lord Verulam, in his life of Henry VII. He also was present in 1497, with one thousand five hundred horse, at the battle of Blackheath, where the Cornish rebels under Lord Audley were defeated, and Sir Rice on his famous horse Llwyd y Bagsau, after a fierce encounter took their leader prisoner, and presented him to the King, who rewarded him with the goods of that Lord, and created him Banneret in the field. Sir Rice with five hundred of his horse pursued Perkin Warbeck, when he fled for sanctuary to the monastery of Beaulieu, in the New Forest, which was then invested by him. The King further honoured Sir Rice with the order of the Garter, and the lordship of Narberth, in 1506, and continued him in the government of Wales, and it is said that the earldom of Pembroke, or of Essex, was also offered to him, which he declined. In 1507, he held a magnificent tournament in Carew castle, which was attended by vast numbers of visitors, who were sumptuously entertained. Sir Rice attended Henry VIII. in his expedition to France in 1513, though above sixty years of age, and gained great glory by his gallant deeds and at the battle of Spurs, he was the cause of the Duke of Longueville being taken prisoner. On his return to England he was further rewarded with the offices of seneschal of Haverfordwest and Rowse. He spent the latter years of his life at his favourite residence of Carew castle in Pembrokeshire, and closed a life full of honours and years, in 1527, being then seventy six years of age. He was buried first at the Priory in Caermarthen, but afterwards reinterred in St. Peter's church in that town, where his remains, with those of his wife, were placed under a then stately monument, which has now become a shapeless mass, and barely sufficient to distinguish the sex of the recumbent figures thereon. Sir Rice ab Thomas was succeeded in his vast possessions by his grandson, a youth of nineteen, who four years after was beheaded by the ungrateful King Henry VIII. on a groundless charge of treason. Besides his son ab Rice Sir Griffith, who died before him, he had numerous illegitimate children who were amply provided for, and some of them were founders of flourishing families. There is a copious and very interesting life of Sir Rice ab Thomas written in the reign of James I, and published in the first volume of the Camrian Register. Eminent Welshmen –R Williams 1852 A Topographical Dictionary of Wales 1839 S Lewis

Ackland of Boulston

(Acc/to The old Parish Churches of South West Wales by Mike Slater.)

Despite being heavily restored in 1843 the 13c nave and chancel divided by a plain pointed arch now lie in ruins. They are hidden away in vegetation near the shore far from any road. The recesses in the chancel were for Wogan Family tombs.

(South Wales - Wade 1913.)

Boulston, a small church 3Miles SE of Haverfordwest on a tongue of land encircled by the Western Cleddau. It preserves within a niche and surmounted by a canopy a curious little figure which Fenton styles the "Boy Bishop", but which is taken by some to represent an acolyte. There was formerly here a mansion of the Wogans.

(Acc/to Medieval Buildings - published by Preseli District Council.)

Great ruined mansion, massive and overgrown both inaccessible and difficult to interpret. The river gateways are still clearly defined whilst remains of stone mullions are visible on the highest section of wall remaining. Was once the home of the Wogan family one of Pembrokeshires most important until their downfall at the time of the Restoration and the ruins despite their astonishingly damp situation indicate that originally this was almost a small castle formed by two adjacent towers rather than a purely domestic structure - just upstream is the ruined Church.

Ackland Dudley 1748 of Boulston was born in Philadelphia in 1748 His ancestors were from Trennington in Devonshire – He attained the rank of Major in the 91st Regiment and married Innes Jane daughter of Innes Francis of Dublin. Adams of Paterchurch

The earliest record of Paterchurch is of de St Patrick David who witnessed a grant of a farm called Russelsland to Phillip the son of Roger and his wife Alice. Another earlier form of the name, that of Patrecheryche occurs in deeds of 1289, de Villa Patricii David appears as a juror on the inquisition as to the lands belonging to de Valance Joan Countess of Pembroke dated Sept 20 1307.

Paterchurch David held part of half a Knights fee at Sageston and West Williamston, in 1362.

The father of

Paterhouse Elen,

Paterhouse David of Paterhouse was on a jury. In other documents during that century the name is recorded as Patrecherche.

Dwnn Lewys spelt it Patrick chyrch in 1597, but it is recorded on Speedes John map of 1610 as Paterchurch.

Adam John 1386 the name occurs in Inquisitions Miscellaneous Chancery File 237 Old ref IPM 10 Richard II no 131 1386 Castlemartyn

Adam John 1422 of Buckspool wife was Paterhouse Elen of Buckspool Old Pembs Families G Owen p 76,

Little is known about the origins of the Paterchurch estate before 1422 but it is known that in 1422 the estate of Paterchurch, said by Fenton to have stretched originally from Pennar Point to Cosheston came into the possession of Adam(e)s John through his marriage to Alson or Elen of Patrickchurch or Paterchurch or Paterhouse the daughter of David of Patrickchurch or Paterchurch or Paterhouse.

Little is known of the antecedents of David of Patrickchurch, though records of this family have been traced back as far as 1247. After marrying into the Paterchurch family the Adams' established their main residence at Paterchurch, and remained there until the end of the seventeenth century.

Several members of the family were politically active in the area. In 1588

Adams John 1541 great grandson of John and Elen married Catherine daughter of Thomas ap David Goch ap Meredith ap Madoc of Stapleton Radnorshire. in 1541 MP Paterchurch, JP. 1543 1558 9 and 1561. Adams John of Paterchurch recorded in the Port Books of Milford The Elizabethan Squirearchy in Pembrokeshire B. Howell, s. (Pembrokeshire historian Vol. 1 p 25) Old Pembrokeshire Families G Owen p76

He had a son

Adams Henry 1547 of Paterchurch, was mayor of Pembroke a JP and MP for Pembroke Borough in 1547 and 1553. He had married Wogan Anne daughter of Wogan Richard of Boulson in 1552. son of John Adams was Sheriff had a son Nicholas Adams Old Pembrokeshire Families G Owen

(other authorities state Adams Henry of Paterchurch son of John Adams married Philips Anne daughter of Philips Sir Thomas was MP for Pembroke 1st and 7th Edward VI and 1st Mary--- High Sheriff of Pembrokeshire 1588)

He is in the list of Justices of the Peace for 1575, 1577-1607, and appears in the list of Justices of the Peace for 1602 –1625.

Adams Henry (gent) 1615 Treasurer of the Poor, Adams Henry of Paterchurch 1588 mayor of Pembroke JP 1575, 1577, 1588 MP 1607 Bronwydd MS 399 Old Pembrokeshire Families G Owen p76

Adams Nicholaus 1620 .of Patrick Church. Justice of the Peace in Pembrokeshire

Adams Nicholas 1601 was also an MP for the Borough. He had studied at Jesus College and was a barrister-in-law of the Middle Temple. At the Inquisition Post Mortem, after Nicholas's death in 1628, it was said that Henry had seized in his demesne as of feoff and in one capital messuage called Paterchurch in the parish of St Mary's Pembroke and also owned other land in the county including Buckspool. The estates that had been joined at the marriage of the Adams family and the Paterchurch family in 1422 were still in the family possession two hundred years later. In 1628 the properties were calculated as providing an annual value of £34 9s 4d. Approximately half of this sum came from the value of the "capital messuage of Paterchurch" and other Property in the parish of St Mary's which had an annual value of £17 13s 8d. Adams Nicholas was mayor of Pembroke in 1603, 1608, 1614 and 1627 and married Powell Elizabeth daughter of Powell Morgan. Was no stranger to controversy as he was a strong supporter, in 1605, of Perrot Sir James of Haroldston against Canon Sir Thomas.

Adams Elizabeth 1601 wife of Adams Nicholas esq. of Paterchurch was accused in 1601 of assaulting Bathoe Richard a cleric PRO St Ch. 5/A41/40

Adams Thomas 1601 gent., accused of assaulting Bathoe Richard a cleric PRO St Ch. 5/A41/40

Elizabeth and Nicholas had a son

Adams William 1608 who was 20 years old when his father died in 1628 and he inherited the estates. During the Civil War the estate was badly affected and suffered substantial losses. It would appear that William Adams supported the Parliamentary side and tried to claim compensation for the damage to his Property which included Paterchurch. On August 19th 1646 he brought a petition to the House of Lords stating that “When the enemy (Royalists) were in the County, he voluntarily gave way for firing divers of his houses in the suburbs of Pembroke. He was afterwards obliged to take refuge with his wife and child in Pembroke and the enemy fired his houses and corn and drove away all his cattle” There was a certificate attached from Laugharne Major General and Poyer, John attesting to his fidelity and great losses. The petition was recommended to the House of Commons for compensation but it is not known how much compensation, if any was paid

William died about 1650 and the estates were inherited by his son

Adams Nicholas 1670 The Property must have been rebuilt because it is known that Nicholas lived in it and paid on seven hearths Hearth Tax

The first wife of Nicholas Adams was Bowen Frances daughter of Bowen Rhys of Upton Castle and they had a son,

Adams Rice or Rees 1655 born about another,

Adams David 1691 who died before that date,

Adams Frances 1691 was alive when her father died.

After the death of his first wife, Frances, Nicholas married Lort Hester, daughter of Lort Sir Roger and they had a son Adams Roger.

As a marriage settlement to provide for any children of the second marriage, Nicholas split the Buckspool and Holyland estates from Paterchurch. Thus after the death of Nicholas land that had been part of the Family estate since 1422 was divided.

Adams Roger 1691 son of the second marriage, who inherited the Buckspool and Holyland estate was Commissioner of Subsidies in 1692 and in 1695-6 and Commissioner of Land Tax in 1705. He married Skyrme Jane daughter of Skyrme William of Llawhaden and was Mayor of Pembroke in 1695. He died in 1708.

When Nicholas died his eldest son Adams Rice brought a Bill of Complaint against the Gwynnes, who were the guardians of his step brother Roger. In this complaint he estimated that the whole estate, including Buckspool and Holyland as well as Paterchurch brought in a clear income of £200 per annum. Rice was experiencing financial problems, due in part to bad harvests but also because of the marriage settlement of his father a considerable portion of the income of the old estate went to his stepbrother. He still occupied the Paterchurch estate but had been raising a series of short term loans using parts of the estate as security. The Paterchurch estate consisted of the tower, the house and other buildings including a farmhouse together with land around and some neighbouring properties. In 1687 Rice had borrowed £650 from Meare, Margaret who was his tenant at East Llanion using the Property at East Llanion, Imble, Furzy Close and Cuckoos Wood as security for a period of twenty years. Two years later he borrowed another £200 from her for 72 acres around Paterchurch. Margaret Meares died in 1690, her heir was Owen John and Rice borrowed more from him. In 1696 he owed £350 on a £700 penalty bond which been given to cover some of the arrears and interest that were outstanding on the loans. By 1697 Rice's debts totalled £1831 4s and he was indicted in the Court of Great Sessions. He and his wife entered into an indenture of lease and release of 230 acres of the estate with Gwynne Richard for £2,100 on October 2nd 1697 and after the debts were paid off Rice received £268 16s. The estate in the indenture consisted of -

“All that capital messuage tenement and lands with appurtenances commonly called and known by the name of Paterchurch and all of those closes fields and parcels of land commonly called and known by the several names of the Hill Yards The Great Park alias Great Cow Park the water park the middle and long meadow and west meadows the great croft or lays the coney gare or Warren the stoney wall park, neap hay, the Wood orchard, fruit orchard, Gardens, fish pond and waste ground containing in the whole 230 acres of lands be it more or less. All situate lying and being in the parish of St Mary in the liberty of the town of Pembroke in the county of Pembroke between the lands of Owen Sir Hugh Bt. in the possession of Ferrior, Jenkin the lands of the said Rice Adams in the several possession of Daniell, John Hobb William and Whelling Nicholas on the south and east sides and the sea and river of Milford on the north and west sides thereof”.

Adams Rice died at Paterchurch in June 1698 and in his will he anticipates at least £500 from the sale of the real estate. He appeared to still own Imble(?), Cuckoos Wood (John Daniell), West Lanion and/or Eastermost House Hobbs William and Ferry Hill Whelling Nicholas but he had used these lands as security. The amount he had borrowed was due to be repaid before November 1707 to Meare Margaret and Owen John. Gwynne Richard trustee of that part of the estate inherited by his stepbrother Adams Roger was supposed to pay off the debts using the funds from the sale of the 230 acres of land to Redeem for Rice Adams. By the time of Adams Rice death in 1698, Gwynne Richard had not paid off the debts as agreed. Adams Elizabeth brought a writ against Lloyd Hugh and his wife Lloyd Joan in November 1701 for sitting and kneeling in a seat that went with the “demesne, messuage and lands called Llanion”, in St Mary’s Church Pembroke. At the time the Lloyds were the tenants of the Property which was still part of the Paterchurch estate. Gwynne Richard died in 1702 without paying off the debts and in 1718, £898 12s was paid to Owens, George, son of Owens, John, by Gwynne. Thomas. There was then an indenture passing the remainder of the estate of 230 acres (excluding East Llanion, Imble, Furzy Close and Cuckoos Wood etc.) to Owen Sir Arthur.

Adams of Holyland.

Property of Holyland probably came into the possession of Adams of Paterchurch as part of the portion of the estate belonging de Paterchurch Ellen about 1422. D/Adams/58 County Records Office Haverfordwest.

Adams Nicholas As a marriage settlement to provide for any children of the second marriage, Nicholas split the Buckspool and Holyland estates from Paterchurch. Thus after the death of Nicholas (sometime after 1670 -----one authority suggests 1691 but it must have been before that date as Adams Rice brought a Bill of Complaint against the Gwynnes at that date, who were the guardians of his step brother Roger.) land that had been part of the Family estate since 1422 but was divided by Nicholas.

Adams John May 3rd 1836 The Adam's family of Holyland purchased additional fields and marsh from Meyrick about 1750. The old house had mulberrytrees a park called the vineyard and a fig tree on the south wall. It was used as a residence by the Adams family as John Adams in 1836 records his great /great/ great/ grandfather living there. They also owned estates at Loverston and Lydstep –

Anson A H A Capt VC

Anson Augustus Henry Archibald 5 March 1835 born Captain The Hon. VC the son of the 1st Earl of Lichfield, and a native of Slebech Hall, Pembrokeshire. His mother Lady Louisa C. Lichfield was sister of the Baroness de Rutzen. He was serving as a Captain in the 84th (later the York & Lancaster) Regiment when he performed the deeds for which he was awarded the Victoria Cross. Augustus later achieved the rank of lieutenant colonel and was some time Member of Parliament for Bewdley. He passed away at the age of 42, on 17 December 1877, in Cannes, France, and was buried at Cimetière Protestant du Grand Jus, Cannes. His medals are on display at the Shugborough Estate in Staffordshire, ancestral home of the Earls of Lichfield. His full medal entitlement were the Victoria Cross, Crimea Medal (1854-56) (Clasp Sebastopol), Indian Mutiny Medal (1857-58) (Clasps Delhi, Relief of Lucknow, Lucknow), 2nd China War Medal (1857-60) (Clasps Taku Forts 1860, Pekin 1860), Order of the Medjidieh (5th Class) (Turkey), Turkish Crimea Medal (1855-56)

Athoe Thomas 1721 Thomas Athoe was mayor of Tenby and was later hanged for murdering his nephew."Journeying home to Manorbier one night from a troublesome day at the market in Tenby he murdered his nephew". There had been family rivalry for a while and the dark and narrow bridge over the Ritec was too good an opportunity for settling the quarrel. His trial and execution brought a certain notoriety to the town as he was found innocent by a court in Pembroke and it took the Court of the Kings Bench in Westminster and a New Act of Parliament ordaining "that all murders or robberies committed in, on or about the borders of Wales should be triable in any county in England" to finally bring him to justice.

Barlow William died about 1569 brother of Roger and Thomas, --first came to Pembrokeshire as Prior of Haverfordwest Priory then , was a Canon regular and prior of Bisham. he was constituted Bishop of St. Asaph, and two months afterward translated to St David's . He was very keen to get the Diocess transfered from St David's to Carmarthen In 1538 Bishop Barlow of St David's , unroofed the Palace at St David's , (some say he sold the lead to get portions for his five daughters, who all married bishops). He also unroofed Llawhaden. In 1540 Henry VIII. rented Lamphey Palace from Bishop Barlow of St David's, and gave it to Devereux Richard, eldest son of Earl Ferrers, afterwards Earl of Essex. In the 2nd Edward VI. (1547) Bishop Barlow was translated to Bath and Wells but in the 1st of May 1553 he was deprived and forced to fly the realm, and remained in exile until the accession of Elizabeth, when be was appointed Bishop of Chichester, and was the principal Bishop of the four at the consecration of Archbishop Parker. Bishop Barlow, the first Protestant Bishop in England died in 1569, and was interred in his own cathedral of Chichester. He married Wellesbourne, Agatha a runaway Abbess of Norfolk, daughter of Wellesborne, John esq. They had several sons, but only one is known.

Barlow Rev William d. 25 May 1625 William Barlow was an English churchman and scientist. and was born at St David's when his father was bishop of that diocese. In 1560 he entered a commoner at Balliol College, Oxford and graduated B. A. in 1564. He then went to sea, but in what capacity is not known. About 1573 he entered into holy orders, and was promoted to a prebend stall at Winchester, and rector of Easton, near that city. In 1588 Barlow was transferred to a prebendal stall at Lichfield, which in the following year he resigned, on being appointed treasurer of Lichfield Cathedral. He afterwards became chaplain to Henry Frederick, Prince of Wales, son of James I, and finally archdeacon of Salisbury (1615). Barlow died 25 May 1625, and was buried in the chancel of his church at Easton.

Bishop William Barlow and his wife Agatha Wellesbourne had five daughters, who all became the wives of bishops, namely,

Barlow George (heir) married Vernon, Anne niece of Devereux Viscount Hereford, and he was succeeded. by his son, John Barlow

Barlow William 1560 – 1636 commenced the Lawrenny line.

Barlow John 1645 son of George Barlow and Anne Vernon "John Barlow, esq. of Slebech, known as " Colonel Barlow " from holding that commission in the royalist army during the great rebellion. Colonel Barlow marched at the head of his corps, chiefly composed of his own tenantry, to the relief of the Marquess of Worcester at Ragland Castle, but his followers having been nearly cut to pieces, he was himself forced to flee when his estates were conferred upon Cromwell's favourites, and his library, with a valuable collection of manuscripts, burnt at Slebech by, Colonel Horton one of Cromwell's officers. In 1645, John Barlow of Slebech was taken prisoner in Pill Fort, near Milford Haven, by the Parliamentarians but escaped. Later, John Barlow accompanied the Marquis of Worcester to the Court of the exiled Charles II. in Paris, and with him went his young kinswoman, Walter's Lucy daughter of Walter's Richard of Treffgarn and Roch, who assumed, on arrival in Paris, the name of Barlow . She became the mistress (some say the wife) of Charles II. , she was then eighteen. Evelyn describes her as ' The brown, bold, beautiful creature.' After the death of Charles I. in 1649 on the scaffold, Lucy had a son, whom she called Crofts James , ' and afterwards a daughter. The pair then parted. In 1656, the year her father, Walter's Richard, was High Sheriff of Pembrokeshire, Lucy came to London, where she was arrested and put in the Tower. She was soon afterwards released, and eventually went entirely to ruin, the Queen-Dowager taking charge of her two children.

At the Restoration in 1660, King Charles II. Restored John Barlow to the Slebech estates
John Barlow had six sons and three daughters, .-
Barlow George his successor.

Barlow John .

Barlow William served for the Venetians against the Turks, and returned to England after the Restoration.

Barlow Lewis

Barlow Charles
and

Barlow Thomas both served for the Venetians against the Turks with their brother William and were killed.

Barlow Anne who married Wogan Lewis esq. of Wiston Castle.

Two other daughters became lady abbesses in France.

Barlow George of Slebetch married Joan daughter and one of the co-heiresses of David Lloyd, esq. of Killy Keithed, in Pembrokeshire.

Barlow John c.1652-c.1695 was his successor.

Barlow William who was introduced into the court of Charles II., and on the King's death was made Captain of Horse in Peterborough' Lord regiment, before King James 's abdication he had attained the rank of colonel, and accompanied that monarch in his retirement. On his majesty's death he returned, and lived and died in Pembrokeshire in great esteem.

He was succeeded by his elder son Barlow John.later in 1677 Sir John Barlow

Barlow Sir John c.1652 - c.1695 Of Slebetch, in the county of Pembroke, who was created a Baronet by King

Charles II. 13th July, 1677. He married first, Lloyd Beatrice, daughter and eventually heir of Lloyd Sir John, bart. of Forrest, in Carmarthenshire, and had two daughters, viz Barlow Beatrice married first to Rudd Sir Anthony, bart and, secondly, to Lloyd, Griffith esq.

Barlow Anne died. unmarried.

He wedded, secondly, Middleton Catherine, daughter of Middleton Christopher, esq. of Middleton Hall, in the county of Carmarthen, and by that lady had three sons, viz.

Barlow Sir George c.1680 - c.1726, his successor who married Heneage Winifred, daughter of Heneage George esq. of Hainton, in the county of Lincoln, and had an only son, George.

Sir George made over a great part of his estate to his brother, John Barlow esq as he had financial troubles. He was succeeded. at his decease by his son George.

Barlow Sir George son and heir of Sir George died in France after 1756, without issue, and the Baronetcy became extinct.

Barlow John -1739 of Colby married first, Anne daughter of Simon, Viscount Harcourt, Lord Chancellor of Great Britain, and had a son

Barlow George 1731 Married Blundell Anne (- 1731), of Haverfordwest. He had a daughter Anne.

Barlow Anne c1735 – c1790 who married 1st 17 May 1758, at St Georges, Hanover Square, London. Trevanion William (15 Jan 1727 - 7 Jan 1767) of St Michael's Caerhays, Cornwall. MP for Tregony in 1754. married. secondly 2 Mar 1773 Bath, Somerset Symmons John High Sheriff of Carmarthen in 1804 John Symmons and Anne Barlow had no children. although his main residence was in London, John Symmons contracted Calvert John of Swansea, to extend Slebech Hall in 1779 and retained it as a country residence until, possibly on the death of Anne, he sold it around 1792, to Knox William and instead acquired the Llangennech Park estate, near Llanelli and about sixty miles east of Milford Haven. John Symmons owned this from about 1793 to sometime after 1817. The reason for his change of location from Slebech to Llangennech was likely so that John Symmons could develop the coal mines on the Llangennech estate. In 1804, John Symmons was High Sheriff of Carmarthenshire and owned Llangennech until c1821, as the estate was advertised for sale in "The Cambrian", of 16 December 1820

Barlowe William 1560 was the son of Dr. William Barlowe bishop of St David's and was born in Pembrokeshire. He was entered at Baliol College Oxford, about, and four years afterwards he took a degree in arts. Having left Oxford, he travelled much abroad, and became skilled in the art of Navigation. About 1573, lie was admitted into holy orders, and obtained several preferments. He was a prebendary of Winchester, and rector of Easton, near that city. In 1588, he was made a prebendary of Lichfield, but in the following year he resigned the prebend for the treasurership of the same cathedral. He afterwards became chaplain to Prince Henry, and at length in 1614, he was appointed archdeacon of Salisbury. He is memorable for being the first who wrote upon the nature and Properties of the loadstone, and he was eminent for his industry in searching, and happiness in finding out many magnetical secrets. He was the first who made the inclinatory instrument transparent, and to be used pendant with a glass on both sides, and a ring at the top. He likewise suspended it in a compass box, where with two ounces weight it was made fit for use at sea. He was likewise the first who found out the difference between iron and Steel, and their tempers for magnetical purposes. He also first showed the right way of touching magnetical needles, and was the first that invented the piecing and cementing of loadstones. Finally he was the first that showed the reasons, why a loadstone being double-capped must take up so great a weight. On these subjects he wrote 1. " The Navigator's Supply, containing many things of principal importance belonging to navigation with divers instruments framed chiefly for that purpose," 4to. London, 1597. 2. "Magne- tical Advertisement , or divers pertinent observations, and approved experiments concerning the nature and Properties of the loadstone , "4to. London, 1610. Some observations were made upon this book by Dr. Kidley of Cambridge, whereupon Barlowe published, 3. "A brief dis-covey of the idle animadversions of Mark Kidley, Doct. in Physic, upon a treatise entitled Magnetical Advertisement , "4to. London, 1613. He died May 25th, 1625, and was buried in Easton church. (Wood's Ath. Oxon. Biog. Brit Eminent Welshmen –R Williams 1852

Barri of Manorbier

Barri Odo de was the first of the family to come to Pembrokeshire. He was given the estate of Manorbier which included the manors of Jameston and Manorbier Newton, as well as the manors of Begelly and Penally. He had a son William who died before 1166

Barri William de pre 1166 He was married twice. By his first wife he had a son Barri Walter de who was killed in Wales By his second wife Angharad, daughter of Gerald de Windsor by the Princess Nesta, daughter of the Lord Rhys he had three sons, Walter by first marriage Robert, Philip and Gerald. He is reputed to have rebuilt Manorbier Castle in stone

Barri Robert de 1185 son of William de Barri and Angharad accompanied Fitz-Stephen Robert, his uncle, to Ireland, took part in the siege of Wexford and was killed at the battle of Lismore

Barri Philip de 1177 son of William de Barri and Angharad Philip de Barri, the son and successor of William, for his services in an expedition was granted by his uncle, Fitz Stephen Robert (a son of Nesta by Stephen, Constable of Cardigan), lands in County Cork and elsewhere, he returned to Ireland in 1185 to assist his uncle Robert Fitz-Stephen, and his first cousin Fitz-William -Fitz-Gerald Raymond (also known as Raymond Le Gros), in their efforts to recover Killede, Olethan and Muscarydonegan that had been expropriated by another (half) first cousin, Fitz-Stephen Ralph (died 1182), the grandson of Nesta by Stephen, Constable of Cardigan. Robert Fitz-Stephen eventually ceded these territories to Barry Philip de 24 February 1206 his half-nephew. On, King John of England confirmed William de Barry, Philip's son, in the possession of these territories and, by Letters patent conferred on him the Lordships of Castlelyons, Buttevant and Barry's Court in East Cork. Philip was a witness to Fitz Elidor Robert's grant of Trefduaw (St. Edien's) to St David's He married a daughter of Fitz Tancred Richard, seneschal of Haverfordwest,' and left three sons . William his heir, Robert, who also warred in Ireland , and Philip, who succeeded his famous uncle as Archdeacon of Brecon.

Barri William de 1207 son and heir of Philip de Barri. About 1219, he granted certain lands in Gower to the monks of Neath, and in 1207 obtained a confirmation from the King of the grant from Robert Fitz Stephen to his father, and in 1213 was one of the King's Commissioners appointed to assess the damage done to the clergy of the diocese of St David's, during the interdict which had lasted from 1208 until that year.

Barri Robert de the younger, son of Philip de Barri

Barri Philip de who followed his Uncle Gerald and became Archdeacon of Brecon.

Barri Gerald de born 1147 (see Giraldus Cambrensis)

Barri David de 1247 a witness to Earl Walter Marshal's charter to Gilbert de Vale (1243-5) appear to have held Manorbier and 4 Knights fee's in Pembroke. It is probable that he had a son also called David

Barri David de (son) Judiciary of Ireland had a son John held Manorbier He died between 1273 and 1299

Barri John de 1301 granted the advowson of Penally to Acornbury Priory," an Austin nunnery in Herefordshire, and that of Manorbier to the Priory of Monkton 1324 John de Barri was seised of five Knight's fees at Manorbier of the value of 100 marks. It is probably of this John that there is the effigy in Manorbier church, he was a witness to the Angle charter of 1298. Shortly before that he by two fines passed his lands in Ireland to his nephew David, who, upon his uncle's death, claimed the lordship of Manorbier against Richard Simond who had married the daughter of Nicholas de Carew. The grant to Acornbury may be accounted for by the fact that

Barri Ann de 1301 daughter of John daughter, was prioress of the nunnery at Acornbury Priory in He also had 2 sons

Barri David de died before his father John and left a son also called

Barri David de

Barri Richard de also left a son also called

Barri William de 1299 was witness to grant made by John de Barri of St Dogwells to Simond Richard at Pembroke.

Richard Simond , A grant made by John de Barri of St Dogwells to Richard Simond at Pembroke in 1299. John de Barri afterwards enlarged the grant with permission to alienate. Sir Richard Simond in 1329 granted the manor to St David's on condition that two chaplains should say daily prayers before the altar of St. Thomas, the Martyr, for the bodily health of himself and his wife Eleanor, while they lived, and for their souls Richard Simond was a witness to the Countess Joanna's charter to Monkton in 1299, and to Earl Aymer's charter to the same in 1302, and to that Earl's confirmation to Slebech in 1323 In the next year he held at Kingsdown (Kingston ?) of the Earl land and there was a fine between him and Beneger William, of Pembroke, for a messuage and sixty acres of land at Aylwardston (Alleston)." In 1325 he was appointed seneschal of Pembroke, removed by de Mortimer Roger and restored on his fall. Richard and Eleanor were still holding the land at Alleston for life. Richard remained in possession of Manorbier until his death in 1335 ,He was succeeded by his daughter Simond Avice married ap Owen Owen whom she survived and she died on the 15th August 1358 seised of the lordships of Manorbier(Jameston and Newton were members of Manorbier) and Penally (of the value of £30) held of the Earldom, and of Begelly (of the value of £10) held of the barony of Carew. The heir of Avice ap Owen in 1358 was David de Barri.

Barri David de 1358 grand nephew of John de Barri resided wholly in Ireland and in about 1377 granted Manorbier and all his Pembrokeshire lordships to de Carew John This grant was confirmed by Henry IV (Cal pp286 7 8).

Beaumont Rev Dr 1848 Wesleyan Methodists
Ebenezer Chapel Pembroke Dock.

Beaufort Margaret 1457, 28 January .Mother of Tudor Henry who was born at Pembroke Castle. Tudor Edmund had married Lady Margaret Beaufort she about 13 he died in captivity in Carmarthen Castle in 1456. His brother Tudor,Jasper Earl of Pembroke, took Margaret to Pembroke Castle. She was pregnant and the baby born was future Henry VII.Ancestry linked him to the royal house of Plantaganet although he had no direct claim to the throne. His mother was the great granddaughter of John of Gaunt by his marriage to Swynford.Catherine She had been his mistress for many years and after the death of his second wife he married her and by a special decree enacted during Richard II's reign all their children were declared legitimate with the promise that none should ever succeed to the throne of England.

He was descended through his father from Vaughan Ednyfed, Llywelyn Fawr's seneschal. His grandfather, Tudor Owen of Anglesey, squire of the Body to King Henry V, and Clerk of the Wordrobe to the Queen Dowager, de Valois Katherine, whom he married secretly in 1425. They lived together for 11 years and had 5 children including Jasper and Edmund. In 1436 marriage was discovered. She was sent to Bermondsey Abbey where she died within the year, her children were cared for by the Nuns of Barking. Owen was betrayed and imprisoned in Newgate, he escaped and returned to Anglesey till Henry VI came of age when he and Jasper fought for Henry at the Battle of Mortimers Cross. Henry and the Lancastrians were defeated. Owen was captured and beheaded at Hereford but Jasper escaped. Previously Jasper and Edmund had been declared legitimate by the Act of Parliament. Edmund was created Earl of Richmond, Jasper became Earl of Pembroke . (Henry Tudor was educated at Monkton Priory by the monks but at the age of 12 had to flee abroad.)

Beneger of Benegerston -- Beneger. —

According to Owen

A family long resident in the county, who gave their name to Bangeston, formerly Benegerston. There are four Bangestons, namely, in Angle, St Mary's Pembroke, Stackpole and St. Issell's. The Benegers held, as co-parceners with Wogan and Robelyn, two fees of the Earl at Cosheston in 1246, 1324, and 1348.

Beneger John 1300 was seneschal of Pembroke in 1300, and in that office was a witness to the charter of

Martin Philip the son of

Martin.Thomas, "

Beneger William had passed, by a fine, to Symon Richard a messuage and sixty acres of land at Aylwardston" (Alleston). We find many of the family jurors at Pembroke and Tenby in the 14th century.

Fenton states that "Beneger, of Benegerston, were men of great note in Pembrokeshire," and observes . " a branch was in the suite of Strongbow on the Irish expedition, who perhaps, might have laid the foundation of a family of that name in Ireland."

de Beneger Adam is mentioned by Giraldus Cambrensis.

Bangeston - Dawes, White, Lort, Campbell, names Acc to me

According to the Royal Commission on the Ancient and Historical Monuments of Wales

The 'mere shell of a mansion " seen by Fenton (Tour, 1810 p. 404) has practically vanished, and in its grounds immediately to the north-east now stands a coast-guard station. The site of what was once the fishpond is easily found.-Visited, 8th June 1922

The earliest record of the Benegers of Bangeston appears to be in 1172, when de Beneger Adam 1172 a founder of the family took part with Strongbow in the Irish Invasion. There is an Irish saying that anything very astounding 'beats Banagher.' Could that have arisen from any feats performed by the Benegers ?

Beneger Ralph 1342 of Bangeston rebuilt Pwllcrochan Church in 1342. It contains two inscriptions recording his name, and an effigy of him in his canonical habit, as Rector.

Dawes Griffith of Bangeston is the next owner of whom we hear, though how it became his does not appear, possibly by marriage with a Beneger heiress. He was the son of Dawes Henry, by Walters Lettice, daughter of Walters William of Roch (her brother's daughter, the famous Walters, Lucy went to France and there met Charles II., by whom she became the mother of the ill-fated Duke of Monmouth). Henry Dawes was the son of Dawes Griffith, whose widow Dawes Joan, daughter of Fletcher Richard, married White Henry of Henllan, near Pwllcrochan, who was Sheriff in 1592.

Henry, or Harry Dawes, father of Griffith Dawes of Bangeston, appears, according to Lewis Dwnn, to have lived at Castlemartin. This fits in with the theory that Bangeston came into the family by Griffith's marriage, but it is also possible that Henry lived at Castlemartin during his father's lifetime, if his father was at Bangeston.

Dawes Griffith was the son of Dawes Nicholas by Butler Katherine of Johnston.

Dawes Griffith of Bangeston was Sheriff in 1665. His only daughter and heiress, Dawes Ann, married White Griffith, son of White Henry of Henllan, who was Sheriff in 1658. White Griffith of Henllan, three times Sheriff, was buried in Rhoscrowther Church. The Whites were a very old Tenby family, and acquired Henllan through Eynon Jestina, daughter and heiress of Eynon John of Henllan, who married White John.

On June 16, 1686, Dawes Griffith of Bangeston, or, as it is put, 'of Banaston in the Parishe of Nangle, Esqre.,' Lort, Thomas, of Eastmoor, Manorbier, and Dawes Francis of Pembroke, gent., with Hammond Devereux, Lloyd James and Smith Francis of 'Tenbie,' gents., as representatives of Bowen Alice of Gloucester spinster bought from Williams Thomas, of St. Florence, for £290 10s., the land of Carswell (at St. Florence), then occupied by Rowe Richard, 'for the relief of the poor and aged of Tenby.' The farm, to this day, belongs half to the Trustees of the Tenby Charities, and half to the Rector and Church-Wardens of St Mary's, Tenby .

Griffith Dawes of Bangeston, as before stated, had an only daughter, Ann Dawes, who married Griffith White , son of Henry White of Henllan. Griffith died before his father, leaving an only child, White Elizabeth, who thus inherited Bangeston from her grandfather. Griffith Dawes of Bangeston who died January 16, 1692, aged seventy, his monument, with a small marble coat of arms bearing the three ' Daws was one of three monuments which were rescued from destruction when the south transept of Angle Church became ruinous, and was pulled down They were replaced a few years ago, pieced together as far as broken fragments would allow, in the north transept. One of the other two is a plain grey marble tablet to Pritchard. Elizabeth, Mrs sister of Dawes. Alice

Mrs(probably Griffith's wife), who died January 17, 1725, aged eighty-six, the other, a hand-some marble monument surmounted by a coat of arms, to Ferrers,Brigadier-General Thomas, who died October 26, 1722. the third Husband,of Elizabeth White, grand-daughter of Griffith Dawes of Bangeston, White Elizabeth married four times. First,

Lort,Thomas, son of Sampson Lort of Eastmoor, Manorbier (Sampson Lort, John Lort of Prickeston, and Sir Roger Lort of Stackpole were brothers, sons of Henry Lort of Stackpole, Sheriff in 1619). Grandfather Dawes is said to have disapproved of the match, and to have hurried across the Fields from Bangeston to Angle Church to stop the wedding, but Thomas, (a sailor) and the wily Elizabeth had got a chaplain with a special licence at the boat-house at the foot of Bangeston Hill, and so outwitted the irate old gentleman, crossing the Haven afterwards in a boat.

Elizabeth's second Husband, was Bulkeley Richard, Viscount, then came Brigadier-General Thomas, Ferrers, to whom she erected the marble monument already mentioned, on which she describes him as her 'truely mourned and dearly beloved Husband,,' Lastly, she married Hook John, who was Sheriff in 1755, and who survived her. She left no children by any of her Husband,s, and John Hook therefore bequeathed Bangeston to his godson and namesake, Campbell, John Hook Lyon King at Arms, died in 1795 he was a grandson of Campbell Sir Alexander, he married Lort Miss of Stackpole, He was brother of Campbell Sir Plyse, and uncle of Campbell John, first. Baron Cawdor,. His son Campbell Matthew married. Basset Ellstacia, daughter of Basset, Francis of Heanton Court Devon, and had a son, also Campbell Matthew (see Below)He died in 1821 without issue(married Adams Anne, daughter of Adams William of Holyland, , and three daughters, co-heiresses, of whom Campbell Eustacia married her cousin Campbell Sir George, G.C.B.,, leaving no issue. He was brother of Campbell John, First Baron Cawdor, Campbell Matthew appears to have got into money difficulties which obliged him to sell Bangeston, the valuable lead roof was stripped off, and everything removed that could be turned into money, and the bare walls soon assumed the look of ruin and decay. This must have happened after 1789, as Richard Gough, in an Addendum to Camden, mentions Bangeston as then occupied, and Fenton in 1811 laments its ruined state and recalls its remembered hospitality, therefore the dismantling must have occurred some time between these two s.

The walled enclosure immediately in front of the house is now overgrown with trees and a carpet of daffodils in spring, called the Bowling Green. There is a large kitchen Garden with magnificently high walls, an artificial pond in the wood adjoining, and traces of an old water-mill, also an avenue of beeches, leading away to the westward, still recalls the glories of the old house .

Bangeston, with Hall, Angle, and the bulk of the Angle Property, was bought in 1805 by Mirehouse, John, Esq., from Lord Cawdor, and remains in his family to the present day.

– From Haverfordwest Records. Order of the mayor and common council and Church Wardens that whereas the bells of the parish of St. Maries are greatly decayed and in consideration of the ill-usage of them in ringing them at the death of everyone whereby no benefit comes to the parish, any person desiring to have all the bells rung after the death of a burgess or a burgess's wife or child shall pay 8s and after the death of any foreigner or stranger 16s. For one bell only, 2s. 6d and 5s respectively. The Church Wardens shall take order for payment before the ringing (the third bell for the knoll only excepted) and account for the same.

Bonville Family of Bonville Court Coudrath (Saundersfoot) (acc/to Owen)

According to the Roll of Battle Abbey (Holingshed Chronicles) one of those who came over with William of Normandy was called “Bondeville” There is no proof though as to whether the Bonville family of the west of England and Wales is descended from him.

The de Bonville's held land from the Earl of Pembroke at what is now Saundersfoot Pembrokeshire West Wales.

The family also held land in the West of England and near Swansea.

The Bonvilles first appear in Pembrokeshire records with Bonville William de 1272 who was seneschal of Pembroke in and in 1275 he was accountant for the lordship of Haverfordwest which was entrusted to his care upon its surrender by de Bohun Humphrey to Queen Eleanor.

Bolevill William de 1290 November 6 Sir steward of Pembrok CharterRoll 18 Edward 1 m 1 (Cal p 373) Clipston.

Bonville Court was probably erected by him. He was succeeded by his grandson Nicholas who held lands from the earl of Pembroke -half a Knights fee at Merrion in 1315 and one tenth of a fee at Coedrath (Saundersfoot) in 1324.

Bonvill Nicholas de 1324 Aug 20 Coytrath (Saundersfoot area) I P M Edward II files 84 & 85.

Bonvill Joanna de widow of Nicholas de Bonvill held half a fee at Gumfreston of de Carew John.

Bonvill William de the son of Nicholas by his settlement, gave the manor of Jeffreyston to his second son

Bonvill Hugh de until he was provided with a suitable ecclesiastical benefice, and then to another son presumably the elder brother John --- Williams' eldest son was Sir

Bonville John who had a daughter

Bonville .Elizabeth before 1400 She married, Carew Thomas, of Carew Castle who was born in 1367. Whether the Bonville Property in the county passed to the Carews by that marriage is not known.

As far as I can ascertain with that marriage the Pembrokeshire branch name died out.

There is a record of a Bonville Sir John de 1330 being summoned as a baron to Parliament in Ireland, but the s would suggest that this was not the son of William, although it could have been a brother of Nicholas. Many Pembrokeshire families at the time held estates in Ireland. He could have been one of the Glamorgan branch from the West of England.

Note ---According to Leyland ----Bonville ---Lord Bonville had many bastards and whom he left some land to one whose issue male yet remaineth --- (whether or not this was one of the Pembrokeshire family I do not know)

In Nooks and Corners of Pembrokeshire (1895) H Thornhill Timmins states of Bonville Court “ A fortified manor house of the Edwardian period of which but a single dilapid tower and stair –turret remains”

The tower which had been used as a store for colliery tools and the Bonville Court farmhouse were covered over by the slag heap from the colliery in the 1920 and the site later converted into a Caravan park.

Boniface IX Pope 1402 Guy Bishop of St David’s etc. to Rowe William and Hylton Margaret, etc.

We have received Letters of the venerable father in Christ Francis, by divine compassion cardinal priest with the title of St. Susannah penancer general of our lord the pope, presented on your behalf, containing this series of words.

To the venerable etc. the bishop of St. Davids or his vicar in spiritualities Francis etc. (as above), greeting etc.

On behalf of William Rowe and Margaret Hilton, a wedded couple of your diocese, a petition has been offered to us containing that some time ago they not being aware of any impediment existing at the present time according to the custom of the country, and consummated this by connection of the flesh and begat offspring. But afterwards it came to the knowledge of this couple that they are united with each other within the fourth degree of consanguinity. And verily since if there were to be a divorce made between them grave scandals in all probability would result there from, the same wedded persons have caused humble supplication to be made for provision to be mercifully made for them upon these points by the apostolic see. We therefore desiring provision to be made for the saving of their souls and for the avoiding of such scandals, by authority of the lord pope, the care of whose penitentiary we bear, and by his special man hereon made to us by the oracle of the living voice, commit it to your circumspection that if it be so, if the said woman have not for this cause been ravished from any one, to deal with these married people that notwithstanding the impediment of such consanguinity be legitimate.

d at Rome at St. Peter, 29 April, in the eleventh year of the pontificate of lord Boniface IX the pope.

We mercifully grant you a dispensation according to the form and effect of the before written Letters, by the authority committed to us in this behalf, in order that notwithstanding the impediment of such consanguinity you may lawfully remain in your marriage at another time in fact contracted between you, decreeing the offspring begotten and to be begotten of the marriage itself to be legitimate.

In witness whereof etc. d in our manor of Lantefey, 21 September 1402, etc.

Earthworks at Castell Fleming Some trial trenches dug by and in Dec. 1922 showed that the earth rampart and ditch were of Roman type and had enclosed at least one building of timber with slate roof and clay floor. These remains were exposed in the triangular plot mentioned above which had been preserved from the plough by piles of stone removed from adjoining ground and was covered with dense growth of bracken. Several pieces of flue tiles and bricks such as were used in hypocausts were found above the surface of a clay floor 2 1/2 inches thick. The part that was laid bare showed remains on of two raised clay hearths and a posthole about 3 inches in diameter. The floor rested a bedding of cobbles, and below this was an earlier occupation layer partly floored with clay resting on some 7 inches of fine gravel. A number of hexagonal roofing slates of characteristic Roman type were found on the upper clay floor and some fragments occurred in and below it. The minor finds included two bones and iron nail a fragment of glass and a dozen pieces of pottery of which five were "Samian". The pottery was found below the upper clay floor and points to the early part of the second century AD as the first occupation. Fentons Tours i 333, Lewis Top Dic Wales 1845 i 27, Arch. Eventually the estate was bought by a nabob, Tasker Captain John. He died young and without heir in 1800 and the castle passed to his niece Evans Maria, who was married to the Reverend William Evans. The Property stayed with the family until 1927 when it was sold by Admiral Evans to Neale Stanley. It was inherited by his daughter Neale Joyce a serving WAAF officer at Pembroke Dock during WW2 who married Skelton John Canon formerly Canon of Lincoln Cathedral, Mrs Skelton was for many years the volutary Organist at Nash Church. In 2006 it was sold to Bowen William 1761 was High Sheriff in.

Bowen Thomas of Williamston, daughter and heiress
Janet Bowen

Bowen Janet married Colonel Owen Philipps (Pembrokeshire Militia) who inherited Williamston, through his wife Bowen Janet, daughter of Thomas, Bowen. Had a son John Henry Philipps Philipps John Henry of Williamston, was High Sheriff(1833)He married Scourfield Anne Elizabeth daughter of Scourfield Henry of Moat. The son Scourfield/Philipps John (b. 1808), assumed the name of Scourfield and inherited the Property. He was created a baronet by Disraeli in 1876 and married Lort Phillips Augusta of Lawrenny Park. A prominent Tory politician, he in later life became a recluse who imagined himself to be a pauper. His son, Scourfield Sir Owen, 2nd Baronet died without issue and the title became extinct. Sir Owen, by all accounts, was also something of an eccentric. He was over generous to the poor and whenever he visited Haverfordwest handed out coins galore to the populace. Scourfield Sir Owen was High Sheriff(1881).

Bowen John 1858 Bishop of Sierra Leone, the son of Captain Thomas, Bowen of the 85th Foot, was born at Court, near Fishguard, Pembrokeshire, and educated at Haverfordwest. He sailed for Canada, and farmed land at Danville, on the shores of Lake Erie, for seven years, returning to Wales in 1842. He entered himself at Trinity College, Dublin, and graduated B.A- in 1847, and LL.B. and LL.D. ten years later. He was ordained priest in 1847. He inherited considerable Property after an uncle died, and this enabled him to devote himself to missionary work, Under the auspices of the Church of England Missionary Society he visited Jerusalem, Syria, Cairo, Mogul, Smyrna, and other centres. In 1857 he was consecrated Bishop of Sierra Leone, and sailed for his diocese in November of that year, but the deadly climate claimed him as a victim in about 18 months afterwards, and he died at Freetown, the capital of the colony, on 28th May, 1858

Burley Roger 1486, 10 November .
Acts before the reverend father Hugh aforesaid in his manor of Lantfey of the diocese of St Davids had and begun on 10 November in the year as above and continued day by day in a Pembroke cause of an error or heretical pravity against one Sir Roger Burley of Ireland then present For which Sir Roger indeed the same reverend father - because Sir Roger himself as the said father asserted on the relation of faithfulmen had been and is notoriously and in manifold ways defamed with him and evidently and on probable conjectures suspected of and upon divers errors, opinions, and articles savoring of heresy met expressly contrary to the determination of holy mother church by himself Sir Roger held and publicly spoken and preached, as was said - peremptorily fixed, appointed, and assigned a day on Saturday next after the feast of the Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary next then following namely 9 December then next, to appear before the same reverend father in the chapel of the Blessed Virgin Mary situated within the said manor of Lantfey to answer upon such errors, opinions, and articles, as is aforesaid, then to be objected against him to the mere correction of his soul, of the mere office of the said reverend father and also on information, and further to do and receive in that behalf what shall be just, there being then present there Master Gely Richard Canon of Abergwilly college, and William, prior of Pill, with other discreet men besides who were there. When indeed the Saturday abovesaid was come, the same Sir Roger the Irishman appeared for trial in person in chapel aforesaid before the said reverend father then sitting in judgment for a tribunal and thereupon the same Sir Roger when required made oath on the most holy gospels to the said reverend father in regard to speaking the truth and answering faithfully upon all points then to be objected against him and enquired of from him concerning and savouring of the matter of errors or heresy. Against this Sir Roger the Irishman indeed, so sworn, for the mere correction of his soul the same reverend father of his office objected and articulated the articles underwritten. Which articles indeed follow and are these, First of all that the same Sir Roger in presence of one Master ap Ris John in the house of White Nicholas of Pembroke there being then present there the said Nicholas White and his wife White Katharine by name Tyler Thomas, of Tenby and Baret John with some others then present, publicly arguing with the said Master John said that he would and could make the Lord's body in the time of the mass for those present and for himself those bones would be bread alone. Also that contrariwise he would at his pleasure sometimes make it as far as related to himself and not to those present Which articles indeed, together with other errors besides obstinately adhered to there in the presence of those afore written, he then confessed that he had said, which errors, truly, together with all errors against the Faith and definition of the Holy Roman church, in writing, before the reverend father aforesaid and his commissary there namely Master ap Owen, Lewis doctor of decrees and archdeacon of Cardigan, with all the others then called to this, he publicly abjured in form following. -

In the name of God, Amen!

I, Sir Roger, chaplain, now of the diocese of St David's before you Hugh etc. Thomas heresies and errors which of late before Master John ap Res and others then present I obstinately asserted and cherished in the house of Nicholas White at Pembroke etc. I verily abjure and the said erroneous articles and all other articles whatsoever, erroneous and contrary to the holy Faith, and all heresies, here in these writings and expressly, I humbly and devoutly renounce, supplicating the reverend fatherhood to deign to impart unto me the benefit of absolution from every sentence of excommunication passed by the holy fathers against such wanderers, subjecting me to every correction and reformation whatsoever adequate to and of right required on account of the premises. And him the said reverend father absolved in due form of law and enjoined on him a fitting penance in that behalf which he faithfully fulfilled publicly in the church of St. Mary, Pembroke.

Haverfordwest .Whereas Johnson John of Newe Castle upon Tyne, master and owner of the ship named The Danyell, being pressed lately at Bristoll for the carriage of two hundred soldiers for Her Majesty's service into Ireland, and being enforced by contrary and tempestuous winds to land in this haven of Milford, made special petition unto us whose names are subscribed for the placing of the said two hundred soldiers in some meet and convenient place during their abode here where they may be relieved with necessary vitual and provision until the wind serve for their passage hence into Ireland, we, considering that there is no place more convenient for the placing of them than the town and county of Haverfordwest, where they may be both relieved with vitual and kept best together by those that are officers over them, do therefore pray and entreat you to receive the said soldiers into your said town and to place and divide them according to your directions as in like case you have formerly done. So we refer care hereof unto you, not doubting but you shallbe allowed of all such money as you or any of you shalldefray herein, as heretofore you have been.

We betake you to God.

Canon Sir, Thomas 1620s was a member of an ancient family in Pembrokeshire, and flourished in the reign of James I. He was a man of great wealth, power, and learning. As an antiquary, he justly ranked very high, and distinguished himself in the celebrated controversy, in which he maintained that Carlell, to whom Rhodri Mawr, in the distribution of his principality, gave the chief portion of South Wales, with the palace at Dinevawr, was his eldest son. This gave rise to a warm contest, and brought into the field, on the other side, the more eminent antiquary, Vaughan, Robert of Hengwrt, who refuted all the arguments of his opponents in his " British Antiquities Revived." Eminent Welshmen –R Williams 1852

Canton Cantinton. Old Pembrokeshire Families Owen

— The name, spelt in various ways, from antinton to Cauntton, survives in the Pembrokeshire family name of Canton , the family held largely in the north of the present county. There was a Cantington Sir William 1164 lord of Eglwyswrw who was born in Normandy and said to have died at Trewilim Eglwyswrw about 1164.

In 1131, Jordan 1131 the son of Aylwin (presumably a Fleming) owed two marks for the land of his grandfather." This may have been the de Cantinton Jordan 1131 who some twenty years later granted, with the consent of Fitz Gerald William, the church of Castellán in Emlyn to Slebech.

Another member of the family

Canton Reymond accompanied Strongbow and was described by Giraldus as "a verie worthie, tall and handsome man" Because of his bravery and conduct in the invasion he was awarded with several manors in County Cork and also a large tract of land in County Wexford on the east coast opposite Newport Pembrokeshire.

Canton Griffin Lord and his wife Barry (Barri) Cecilia founded Glascarrig Priory " granted lands at Cohore with the right of Fishery and salvage of wrecks for the purpose of founding a Priory for Benedictine Monks in honour of the monastery of St Dogmael, in Pembrokeshire, of which their predecessors were founders. The abbot of St Dogmael was always to present one of his monks to succeed on the death of the prior of Glascarrig”

Canton Lord 1335 An inquiry in 1335 found that Lord Canton’s lands in the county of Wexford was of no value as it was uncultivated and “among the Irish” who were continually warring and fighting. (was this a good excuse for not paying tax) Cantons afterwards, took an Irish name, and called themselves MacMedock, afterwards corrupted into Maddock."

The Golden Grove Book gives a pedigree of the Cantintons, beginning with Cantington Sir William Lord of Eglwyswrw, "a Norman born", who married Gladys, a daughter of the Lord Rhys, and died at Trewilym in Eglwyswrw in 1166, it also states that Cantington Griffith sixth in descent from Sir William, sold the lordship of Eglwyswrw to Martin Robert , whom the writer in the Archeological Camhrensic" calls lord of Kemes , but the only Martin,Robert Lord of Kemes, was a contemporary of Sir William Cantington.

There was a de Cantington William but of a much later , as found from some interesting legal proceedings. Cyneurig, the son of Madoc, had obtained a charter from de la Roche Adam of a carucate of land at Ffenongey (Ff ynnongay) , he pledged the land and the charter to Goodwyn Richard, a burgess of Haverford, for eight marks, and went on a pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

de Cantington William bought Goodwyns rights, took possession of the land, and was succeeded therein by his son de Cantington Jordan 1246 but in 1246 Eva and Amabilia, the daughters of Cyneurig, who was then dead, sued Jordan for the land, and he, after a short contest, gave it up to them. This Jordan was a witness to two charters of Fitz Martin Nicholas Lord of Kemes," and the agreement for an interchange of land between him and Nicholas is extant." Fenton says that Fishguard was granted by Martin de Tours to de Cantington Jordan and by him, after his ill government thereof, to St. Dogmaels Abbey." There is no trace of any Jordan de Cantington contemporary with Martin, and the donation to St. Dogmael was by William the son of Jordan. The grant states that de Cantington William 1268 son and heir of Jordan de Cantington, gives to the monastery of St. Mary and St. Dogmael in Kemes all his lands at Fisgard on both sides of the water of Gwayn , the charter is not dated, but two of the witnesses are de Boleville William, seneschal, and de Hospital Tankard, sheriff, of Pembroke , they held these offices in 1268."

de Cantington Griffith 1355 was archdeacon of Cardigan, and was succeeded by a de Cantington Philip archdeacon of Cardigan

de Cantington Richard archdeacon of Cardigan de Cauntington Griffith 1337 was also appointed archdeacon of Carmarthen a few years earlier. He is the Griffith who, the Golden Grove Book says, sold Eglwysrw to Robert Martin.

In 1337, he appointed ap Griffith Jordan his attorney, to give Robert Martin, lord of Eglwyswrw, seisin of 14 acres of land in Clunperveth, he is called in the document archdeacon of Carmarthen, and it was signed at Trewilym, the family seat. Griffith was a great benefactor to the holy church. In 1332 there was an enquiry whether it would be to the damage of the King or any other person if Griffith granted to Bishop Gower, to enable him to pay £10 yearly to his chaplains to perform divine service in his hospital of St. David at Swansea, the manors of Clementston (Treglemais), Nantgone, and Lettardiston (Letterston), and other tenements, it was found that it would not, and that the lands in question were held of the bishop and were of the yearly value of £11, it was also found that there remained with Griffith and William, his co-parcener, the manor of Trefnogh in Pebediog, held of the bishop, and of Nantgwyn, in Kemes, held of Audley James Lord, and that these manors were worth 100s. yearly. The Golden Grove Book makes Griffith to have had a son,

Cantington John which was not appropriate to an archdeacon of those days, and this John had a son

Cantington Howell 1370 who held in Bayvill in 1370. Howell, according to the Golden Grove Book, had a son

Cantington Philip who married Broughton, Elizabeth of Llangwarren. and had a daughter and heiress Cantington Elizabeth who married Thomas, Rees David.

Carew of Carew Castle.

de Carew William c1100 The son of Nesta, William adopted the name Carew. He died at the age of 70 and was succeeded by his son

de Carew Raymond who had been taking part in the invasion of Ireland. His descendant Sir

de Carew Nicholas 1284 held high office in Ireland between 1284 and 1310 and accompanied Edward 1 into Scotland. He ravaged Galloway, and was present at the siege of Caerlaverock (Dumfries). The Roll Of Caerlaverock speaks of him as "a valiant man of great fame". His son de Carew John 1324 also did good service against the Irish and the Scots, and when he died in 1324, granted his widow , de Carew Joan "six tuns of wine a year during the Kings pleasure".

de Carew John The son and namesake of Sir John fought in the French Wars, and in recognition of the prowess of his Welsh, archers at Crecy, the black lion of the Carew crest carried a golden arrow.

His great-grandson another Sir de Carew Nicholas 1447 who died in 1447 was succeeded at Carew by his son

de Carew Sir Thomas whilst his fifth son, de Carew William married the heiress of Courtney Sir Hugh of Haccombe beginning the long connection of the Carews with the west country holding lands in Devon and at Camerton, and Crowcombe in Somerset and were the ancestors of the present owners of Carew Castle.

The last of the older line to hold Carew was de Carew Sir Edmund 1480 who mortgaged the estates to ap Thomas, Sir Rhys in 1480.. Five years later both fought for Henry VII at Bosworth and both were knighted on the field of battle. Sir Edmund was slain by a "gonne" at the siege of Touraine on June 28 1513 and was buried at Calais.

Sir Rhys ap Thomas, entertained Henry at Carew after he landed at Dale but it was twenty seven years later that he held the most spectacular event at Carew - a tournament to celebrate his admission into the Order of the Garter.

Old Pembrokeshire Families Henry Owen

Of all the families who held under the Earls of Pembroke this is in many ways the most distinguished. Few in the Kingdom can be traced with so much distinctness during the whole of its long career, and the home of the race, built by its Norman founder, has remained to the present day (with one short interval) in the possession of his descendants. It is also remarkable for the number of noble families which branched off from it. From Carew Castle came (among others) the

Fitz Geralds, the foremost among the conquerors of Ireland, the elder branch of whom became Earls of Kildare and Dukes of Leinster, the Fitz Maurices, Earls of Kerry and Marquises of Lansdowne, the Graces, Barons of Courtstown, and the Gerrards, Lords Gerrard. All these settled in Ireland, and furnish an interesting example of the origin of family names. From William, the brother of Gerald, founder of the house of Carew, came the Lords Windsor and the Earls of Plymouth.

The representatives of the family who remained in this county soon adopted the territorial title of de Carew, although they are occasionally called in the records De Windsor, from the earlier home. From an early they had held lands in the West of England, and their possessions there were, later, much increased by marriages with heiresses when they made their English home their principal residence. From Carew Castle came many of the Carews and Careys who rose to fame and fortune in Devon, Cornwall, and Somerset, and it may be noted that the distinguished General of Pembroke descent, spells his name Vole, Carew, but pronounces it Voole Carey, or rather did so until a regrettable incident in 1879 made the name Carey distasteful to him. Another form of the name is Carrow, once familiar in South Pembroke, and still happily represented in the county.

But however this may be as to some bearers of the name, the historian himself drew his name from our Carew, which is certainly Welsh, and not French, and most probably means Caerau, the camps, still preserved in the local pronunciation of Carey Castle. "Another learned Carew was also in error as to his origin, George, Earl of Totness, has left in his handwriting, among the Carew MSS., a pedigree tracing the family from Adam de Montgomery, which is recorded at the Herald's College, but the charter of King John mentioned below shows that it is as fictitious as those of the bards, or of the late Sir Bernard Buik.

There is a fable that among the numerous foreigners at the Court of Edward the Confessor was a certain Dominus Other, said to have come from Florence, who had a son, Walter Fitz Other, who held the important post of Castellan of Windsor, and who had two sons by a Welsh wife, William, the progenitor of the De Windsors, as above stated, and Gerald, who came to Pembroke with the first Norman invaders under Arnulph de Montgomery, in the reign of William Rufus.

De Windsor Gerald was made Castellan of Pembroke by Arnulph, but on the disgrace of the latter in 1102 for his rebellion in favour of the Kings brother, Robert, he was replaced by one Saer. However, two years later he was reinstated by Henry I. This was doubtless owing to his having married the mistress of that King, Nesta, the Welsh, princess, who has been styled the "Helen of Wales". Nesta brought him as her dower Carew, and lands in Emlyn, and Henry granted him the lordship of Moulsoford, in Berks, which long remained with the family of Carew. He had three sons , William, who took the name of de Carew , Maurice, who called himself Fitz Gerald, and was the forefather of the great Geraldine race in Ireland , and David, who became Bishop of St Davids , and died in 1177 , he had also a daughter, Angharad, who, married William de Barri, of Manorbier.

de Carew William 1135 married de Kingsley Katherine, a daughter of de Kingsley Sir Adam, in Cheshire, and, notwithstanding his Welsh, blood, he spent most of his life in fighting the Welsh, , as his father did before him. In 1135 he was defeated by them near Cardigan , in 1147 he took from them the Castle of Carmarthen, then held by Meredith ap Griffith, and in the year following that of Wiston,. After this it is curious to read, that when the Welsh, , in 1152, captured Tenby Castle, they handed it over to William so perhaps the Welsh, blood counted for something after all. William confirmed the grant by Jordan de Cantinton, a well-known man in North Pembrokeshire, of the church of Castellan in Emlyn to the Preceptory of Slebech," and died in 1173 He had four sons

de Carew Other

de Carew Raymond "the bravest and wisest of the conquerors of Ireland", and de Carew William who also settled in Ireland. Another son, de Carew Gerald had been killed at Camrose by the men of Roose, upon whom his family took dire vengeance."

de Carew Other 1173 who succeeded to Carew, married Fitz Tancred Margaret, daughter of Fitz Tancred , Richard Castellan of Haverford." Fenton tells us that there were few men of rank among the Flemish settlers," but we find the son of one of these settlers allied by marriage with the two great Norman houses of Carew and Manorbier. Other, soon after his fathers death, got into trouble with the Welsh, , who took from him his castle of Emlyn, but he obtained from Henry II the manor of Bampton, co. Oxon., so long as the Welsh, held Emlyn.- He began the long connection of the Carews with Devon, by acquiring Brunton in that county," and he confirmed his fathers gift of the vill of Redberth to Slebech. He was a witness to the grant of Trefduauk (St. Edrens) to St Davids by Robert Fitz Elidor." He died about 1204, leaving as his successor his son de Carew William 1207 who was accused of, rebellion against King John in 1207 William had to pay forty marks of gold for a charter from that King, confirming to him the manor of Moultsford, which charter sets out his descent as above stated , and in 1212 he was restored to his house at Carrio (Carew), and the other lands which he held on the day upon which the King embarked for Ireland from Pembroke two years before." William died soon afterwards, and was succeeded by his son Richard, de Carew Richard 1214 wifes name was Scholastica, His brother and son were successively bishops of St Davids {i.e., Thomas, Wallensis in 1248 and Richard de Carew in 1256). This is evident from a charter of the last named," although it is not so stated in the history books. Besides the bishop who made his mark on the history of St Davids, Richard had an elder son, de Carew William 1247 lord of Carew, who in 1247 held five Knights fees in Pembroke, which in the Mareschal division were assigned, like Manorbier, to Joan de Munchensy."

de Carew Sir Nicholas 1298 was a man of mark, of his local influence we have had great evidence In 1298 he was a witness to the charter of Philip of Angle to William de la Roche. In 1301 he signed the famous letter of the parliament of Lincoln to the Pope, asserting the feudal dependence of Scotland on the English crown, not as lord of Carew, where he was a tenant of the Earl of Pembroke, but as lord of Moulsoford," and in the same year was summoned by Edward I to the host against the Scots." He bore as arms the famous black lions passant of the Carews, and he died in 1311, having in his lifetime granted his lands in Carlow, Ireland, to his son de Carew John 1317 was ordered by writ of military summons to go to Ireland to defend those lands from Edward Bruce, the brother of the more famous Robert, who, after Bannockburn, nearly overran the whole of that country.

de Carew Beatrice the sister of John, had, married de Barri Richard, and brought him Begelly as her dowry. John de Carew died in 1324 and his son de Carew Nicholas 1325 dying a few months afterwards was succeeded by his brother de Carew Thomas 1332 of whom the only fact recorded is that when in 1332 he was indicted for taking away from Manorbier the goods of de Barri David during the great law-suit, he refused to appear on the ground that the writ against him was not sealed with the proper seal. Unhappily, we are not told whether this defence was admitted, apparently it was. It is not quite clear whether de Carew Sir John 1348 the next lord, was the son of Thomas, de Carew or his nephew, probably the latter. He was lord deputy of Ireland in the reign of Edward III, and had large possessions in Devon which had devolved upon him through the marriages of his ancestors with the heiresses of the Peverels and the Mohuns. He held at Carew in 1348 five Knights fees worth 100 marks, and among his advowsons, that of St. Brides, taxed at 16 marks. He also held a Canonry in the Collegiate Church of Llanddewi Brefi, with the prebend of Dihewid, of the value of 10 marks. Bishop Beck had founded this church in 1287, as a place of spiritual joy, with advowsons of Cardigan churches, which Edward I had confiscated and given to him, but the prebends soon got into lay hands, and were treated as sinecures. Sir John died in 1362, leaving a widow de Carew Elizabeth (apparently his second wife), who had the manor of Lawrenny as part of her dower. His son de Carew Leonard 1362 survived his father seven years, and died in Gascony in the suite of the Earl of Pembroke, leaving a son de Carew Thomas 1367 then aged two years. This Thomas, lived to what was in those days a ripe old age, and died in 1431. Like his father he was a warrior, in 1416 he was serving in France, and in the next year was ordered by the Privy Council to prosecute the war at sea. He married Bonville Elizabeth, daughter of Bonville, Sir John a west country family, who held lands in Pembrokeshire and gave their name to Bonvilles Court. In 1404 the sum of £200 was ordered by the Council to be paid to him for the wages of men at arms to guard the castles of Carmarthen and Emlyn, and his account for the custody of Narberth castle is extant, shewing that he paid £90 10s. 10d. as wages to ten men at arms and fifty archers, from the 1st November 1402, to the 24th April 1404."

de Carew Nicholas 1447 the son of Thomas, married Courtenay Joan, daughter and heiress of Courtenay, Sir Hugh of Haccombe, co. Devon. He died in 1447, leaving four sons ,

Carew Thomas ,

Carew Nicholas of Haccombe, the ancestor of the Carew baronets ,

Carew Alexander of Anthony, from whom came Richard Carew, the antiquary, and the family of Pole-Carew ,

and

Carew William the ancestor of the present owner of Carew.

Notwithstanding their vast possessions and their judicious marriages, the Carews soon after this time fell, through improvidence, upon evil days.

Carew Edmund the grandson of the last mentioned Carew Thomas, mortgaged Carew castle to Sir Rhys ap Thomas, who held there the famous Tournament of St. George in 1607. On the attainder in 1531 of Rhys ap Griffith, the grandson and heir of Sir Rhys, who had foreclosed the mortgage, it was forfeited to the Crown.

Carew Edmund went to the wars, and was killed in France. He left two sons ,

Carew William the father of Carew Sir Peter 1575 (frequently called Carrow in the State Papers), who tried to retrieve the fallen fortunes of the house by recovering the ancient possessions of the Carews in Ireland, which had passed from them for two centuries, and died there in 1575 ," and Carew George the father of Carew George Lord Carew and Earl of Totness, who succeeded to his cousins unlawful heritage. He was a friend and contemporary of George Owen,"" and was himself a considerable antiquary, as his collection, which is now at Lambeth Palace, most amply testifies.

Carew castle was granted by Queen Mary to Sir John Perrot, and it is to him and to Sir Rhys ap Thomas, the mortgagee of Carew, that we owe much of the beautiful buildings whose ruins are so well-known to us. After Perrots attainder, Carew was granted to different persons on different tenures until, in the reign of James I, the old family came back.

Carew Thomas the great-grandson of Carew William the son of Carew Nicholas had married Bicombe Elizabeth the daughter and heiress of Bicombe Hugh of Crowcombe, in Somerset, and their son, Carew Sir John 1637 was able to buy up certain outstanding interests and to obtain a grant in fee from the Crown. Sir John Carew died in 1637.

During his lifetime he erected a magnificent monument to himself, his wife, and family, in Carew church. He does not seem to have lived at Carew much, for it appears by the ChurchWardens accounts of the parish, which from 1619, that at that , and during Sir Johns life, the castle and demesnes were in the occupation of Phillipps Sir John of Picton, and of his son Phillipps Sir Richard , but from 1667 to 1676 they were held by his son Carew George. Sir John Carew held in his own hands Summerton, , Cotchland, Rickeston and Radford , he was sheriff of Pembrokeshire in 1623.

Carew George 1640 sheriff and was the last Carew who lived there, for in 1643 the castle, which was held for the King in the Civil Wars, and was even then a place of great strength, was surrendered "upon quarter" and dismantled."

Carew John the son of George Carew, died without issue, and Carew went to the descendants of his (Georges) elder brother,

Carew Thomas 1766 of Crowcombe. Thomas, Carew died in 1766 leaving two daughters as joint heiresses to the Carew estates one died unmarried the other Carew Mary 1794 married Warrington George Henry , who took the name of Carew. – His grandson.

Carew Colonel 1874 left a son, who died without issue, and a daughter,

Carew Ethel Mary the lineal descendant of Gerald Fitz Walter she married the Castle de Castro Old Pembrokeshire Families Owen

Castro Walter de 1324 held of the Earl half a fee at Flemishton (Flimiston in Castlemartin parish), another half a fee at Moriston (Moreston in Monkton) These lands were originally held by Fleming William in 1246, Walter , above mentioned, had also a grant of six bovates of land at Corston which had been given by Aymer de Valence to de Castro John and Isabella his wife , but the land had been taken by the lieutenant at Pembroke of Thomas, de Hampton, Mortimer, Roger justiciary of South Wales, as John had to fly for a debt he owed for trespass , " On the death of Walter these lands were escheated

Castro John de 1272 was present at the Crespyng Stackpole fine in 1272.

Chastel Thomas de 1339 was one of the guardians of Monkton Priory, which had been seized into the Kings hands as an alien priory, Castro Thomas de 1376 was seneschal of Pembroke.

Castro Mable de 1324? was an heiress is evident, as fines were levied in favour of her husband, and herself of lands at East and West Poperton* (Popton) . We find members of the family under the names of de Castro, de Chastel, de Castel, and de Castle, witnesses to many charters in the 13th and 14th centuries. According to Lewys Dwnn Mable's father was Castell Sir William of Castleton in Monkton , " but he was more probably the de Castro Walter who in 1324 held of the Earl half a fee at Flemishton (Flimiston in Castlemartin parish), held by William Fleming in 1246, and another half a fee at Moriston (Moreston in Monkton).

de Castro Martini Sir John , he was a witness to de Cantinton Willams charter of St. Dogmael, and afterwards to Fitz Martin Nicholas confirmation thereof, also as seneschal of Pembroke to Mortimers Roger charter to de la Roche. Thomas, This office had been held by his father, another de Castro Martini John 1244 joined with the other notables in the letter to John of Monmouth as to the attack on Cardigan, and who, as Sheriff of Pembroke, was a witness Marshall Earl Walter charter to Monkton Priory. In 1324 another de Castro Martini John held of the Earl on the death of de Valence Aymer, at Mineyerdowen (Minerton), Blancultoyt (Blaencilgoed), and Hethhavelok or Kethhavelok (Gellyheulog ?) . There are few further traces of the family, Castlemartin John 1405 was appointed, with Perrot Stephen of Haroldston, to receive the black mail for Owen Glyndwr.

Fenton" says that Castlemartin Castle (where Leland found the "vestigia of Martine Castel") was the baronial residence of the lords of Castlemartin. But the manor of Castlemartin was always part of the demesne of the Earl, and the most valuable part thereof. On the death of Aymer de Valence the value of the whole lordship was £175 16s. 4d and of this sum Castlemartin manor was worth £102 0s. 2d No doubt Castlemartin Castle was held by the Earls themselves. It is probable that this was the reason why Castlemartin gave its name to the hundred. But of the Martin who gave his name to the Castle there is no trace, and for the statement that he was descended from Martin, the conqueror of Kemes, there is no evidence.

Crespyng Thomas 1387 xref Vale(Dale), son of Crespyng Richard 1387 of South Hill, and descendant of Matilda –Suits for land 1387. The proceedings in these suits are fully set out in the inespiscimus of records in the treasury at Pembroke, by Sir Beauchamp William, guardian of the earldom during the minority of Hastings, John died at Pembroke 1387. There are several traces of members of this family, later called Crepping, chiefly as jurors at Pembroke, but also as witnesses to charters.

Crespyng Sir Robert de 1286 was one of the four Knights sent in 1286 with the record from de Valence Williams court at Pembroke to the court of the Kings justice at Haverford , he was a witness, as constable of Pembroke, to de Cantinton Williams charter to St. Dogmael.
In

Crespyng William de 1327 ., was indicted and found guilty of conspiracy,

Crofts James

April 9th, 1649 ,the son of Charles II. by Lucy Walter , daughter of William Walter, of Roch Castle, co. Pembroke. He was born April 9th, 1649, and landed in England with the Queen-Mother, July 28th, 1662, when he bore the name of Crofts, after Lord Crofts, his governor. He was created Duke of Monmouth, February 14th, 1663, and married Lady Anne Scott, daughter and heiress of Francis, second Earl of Buccleuch, on April 20th following. In 1673 he took the name of Scott, and was created Duke of Buccleuch Pepys Diary September 7th 1662

Pepys diary entry 15 May 1663

It is made very doubtful whether the King do not intend the making of the Duke of Monmouth legitimate,

Thomas, Ross, Monmouths tutor, put the idea into his head that Charles II. had married his mother. The report was sedulously spread, abroad, and obtained some kind of credence, until, in June, 1678, the King set the matter at rest by publishing a declaration, which was entered in the Council book and registered in Chancery. The words of the declaration are, "That to avoid any dispute which might happen in time to come concerning the succession of the Crown, he (Charles) did declare, in the presence of Almighty God, that he never gave, nor made any contract of marriage, nor was married to Mrs. Barlow, alias Waters, the Duke of Monmouths mother, nor to any other woman whatsoever, but to his present wife, Queen Catherine, then living."

Cromwell Oliver 1648 May Welston Carew. Mayor of Tenby gave him a gallon of wine 1648.
He gave Tenby £100 for the poor 1649

Cuny Walter 1603 , whose son and heir

Cuny Richard 1613 signed his pedigree for Dwnn in 1613. Some eight generations of the family remained in the county for two and a quarter centuries, seemingly the last in the male line was the Cuny Rev. John Powell 1820-25 rector of St. Brides who died unmarried On Colby's map of 1831 are marked Golden Hill and adjacent Golden Farm. There is a suggestion that after the French Invasion at Fishguard, some of the French prisoners were held here and escaped with the aid of local girls.

1 February 1801 Narberth Cordwainer Offence Murder of Morgans Anne infant aged 10 prosecutor's daughter by striking her with a stone Prisoner aged 17 LampeterVelfrey Prosecutor Morgans John LampeterVelfrey clothier Verdict Guilty Punishment Death Before the Pembrokeshire Courts 1730-1830----- There seems to be some confusion in various records regarding this boy but what is evident is that the Jury and Judge took a very strong view of this case There was no recommendation to mercy or reduction in sentence to transportation as happened in many other recorded cases of the time It was a public hanging and that his body was hanged in chains after would also suggest that the case raised a lot of feeling as again this was unusual In fact he was the last juvenile to be hung in chains-----The Court records state that David Dackfield from the parish of Narberth in the county of Pembroke by trade a Cordwainer that is a high class shoe maker murdered Anne Morgans daughter of John Morgan a clothier who lived at Lampeter Velfrey on the 1st February 1801 by hitting her on the head with as stone Anne Morgans was eleven years old and David Dackfield was in the court records age 17 The murder took place at LampeterVelfrey -----David Dackfield pleaded not guilty at his trial but was found guilty and hanged at the Bowling Green Haverfordwest in Pembrokeshire on the 6th of April 1801 Afterwards his body was hanged in chains. His execution and Gibbeting cost Pembrokeshire £20 -7s - 4d

Extract from The History of Haverfordwest John Brown

"In 1801 a lad not more than fifteen of the name of David Duckfield was hanged for the murder of a little girl Of those who witnessed the execution I conversed with one lady who is still living who was brought by her Father as if he though it might prove a useful deterrent lesson for a little maid under ten She was horrified with the shrieks of the boy entreating the bystanders to save him while the hangman was endeavouring to soothe him while putting the rope round his neck addressing him as "My poor boy come now! Davies Howell 1719-1770 a clergyman was a native of Pembrokeshire and began to preach in an awakening manner about the same time as Harries Howell and Rowlands Daniel He "was a Boanerges and mere formalists could not bear the faithful manner in which he proclaimed the salvation of Jesus" For some time the largest churches were open to him and thousands flock ed to hear him He preached in every part of Wales and many parts of England and yet succeeded not without repeated annoyances in retaining his livings in the Established Church He has a name among the " mighties " of Wales both as reformer and preacher and has been most appropriately termed " the Apostle of Pembrokeshire" In later years he chose the town of Haverfordwest as the centre of his labours and thereat built the edifice known as " The Room of the Tabernacle" Fully alive to his great responsibilities and the realities of the world to come his zeal in the Master's cause and his efforts for the salvation of souls knew no bounds

Dawes of Bangeston nr Angle

Dawes Henry by Lettice??some records say Lettice Walters others say Margaret Walters daughter of William Walters of Roch her brother s daughter the infamous Lucy Walters went to France and there using the name Lucy Bowen met Charles II by whom she became the mother of the ill-fated Duke of Monmouth

Henry Dawes was the son of Dawes Griffith

Dawes Henry or Harry father of Dawes Griffith of Bangeston appears according to Lewis Dwnn to have lived at Castlemartin This fits in with the theory that Bangeston came into the family by Griffith s marriage but it is also possible that Henry lived at Castlemartin during his father's lifetime if his father was at Bangeston

Dawes Griffith of Bangeston is the first of the Dawes owners of whom we hear though how it became his does not appear possibly by marriage with a Beneger heiress He was the son of

Dawes Henry

Dawes Griffith 1665 of Bangeston was Sheriff in Griffith Dawes of Bangeston died January 16 1692 aged seventy his monument with a small marble coat of arms bearing the three Daws was one of three monuments which were rescued from destruction when the south transept of Angle Church became ruinous and was pulled down They were replaced a few years ago pieced together as far as broken fragments would allow in the north transept His only daughter and heiress

Dawes Ann married White Griffith son of White Henry of Henllan who was Sheriff in 1658

Dawes Henry 1613 Lewis Dwnn Deputy Herald of Wales records that in 1613 Henry Dawes whose wife was Lettice Walters of Roch Castle was living at Castlemartin probably during the lifetime of his father Griffith Dawes of Bangeston.

Griffith Dawes wife was still alive in 1643 when she begged Lord Carbery leader of the Royalist forces at Tenby to spare the people of the area from his vow to plunder and sack the area she was the mother of eight sons and eight daughters and also had at the time four grandchildren with her at Henllan

De Brian Old Pemrokeshire Families H Owen

Bride's Hasguard St Ishmael Marloes Dale Herbrandston Hubberston Talbenny Haroldston West Walton West and Robeston West

The Barony of Walwyn's Castle was held for many generations by the de Brians who came from Tor Brian in Devon they had great possessions in the West Country and also held the lordship marcher of Laugharne

We find little notice of them in the county records they lived elsewhere and as early as 1307 their " habitable house " at the cafut Baronice was in ruins" The difficulty of tracing the pedigree owing to the sameness of the Christian names is greater here than in other cases except an occasional William the heir of the house was always called Guy we have five and in some pedigrees six Guy de Brians in succession'

The de Brians held Laugharne in the reign of King John and it is probable Walwyn's Castle also but this was not an appanage of Laugharne as Fenton' states as in 1247 and again in 1331 the de Brians held it of the Earl whereas they held Laugharne direct of the King In 1470 Walwyn's Castle was held by William Herbert Earl of Pembroke of the King ut de corondy In 1219 William de Brian was a witness to the charter to Haverford of William Marshall Earl of Pembroke this William would seem to have been the father of the first of the Guys above-mentioned the reputed builder of Laugharne Castle who 1248-1255 granted the manor of Eglwys Cummin to Thomas Wallensis Bishop of St David's and whose daughter Maud married Nicholas Martin lord of Kemes who died in 1284 and afterwards Geffrey son of William and Johanna Camville It was this Guy de Brian who was a witness to the charters of the Earls Gilbert and Walter Marshall to Gilbert de Vale'

In 1270 there was a fine between Andrew Wake and Johanna his wife plaintiffs and William de Canville and Johanna his wife defendants ' Johanna Camville was the widow of William de Brian son and heir of Guy who had endowed her at the church door on his marriage with one third of the Manor of Tor Brian " this was allowed to be the right of the plaintiffs who for this concession granted to the defendants one-third of the Manors of Pererston Pierston and Popileton ? in the county of Pembroke for their lives with ultimate reversion to the right heirs of Guy de Brian

Guy the son or probably the younger brother of William died in 1307 and it is from his inquisition that have learn the extent of the Barony as above stated His son Guy married as a second wife Gwenllian a Welsh - woman he was governor of Haverford in 1330" and in the next year was found lunatic " the Barony was resumed by the King but seisin thereof was delivered to Guy the son of the lunatic The Black Book of St David's " says that Kilbarth Frowlynchirche Spital? Scaueton Scolton and Hethoke Haythog were formerly held as one fee by Guy de Brian but were in 1326 in the hands of the Bishop, Guy the lunatic died in 1349"

His son was the famous Sir Guy de Brian Knight of the Garter and Standard-bearer to Edward III He was twice married his first wife was Joan daughter of Sir John Carew" He was seneschal of Pembroke in 1340" he claimed to hold Walwyn's Castle of the King in capite as he did Laugharne but the claim could not be sustained He died in 1390 in extreme old age and was buried in Tewkesbury Abbey His son the last of the Guys had died in 1386 leaving two daughters and co-heiresses Phillippa and Elizabeth Phillippa married twice but left no

Elizabeth married Sir Robert Lovel and left an heiress Maud

Maud married Sir Richard Stafford and left yet another heiress Avice Avice brought the Barony and also Laugharne to her husband James Butler who was created Earl of Wiltshire in 1449 succeeded his father as

Earl of Ormond in 1452 and was beheaded in 1461

Avice died without issue in 1456 and thereafter was much contention for the de Brian possessions among the heirs general" who were descended from the daughters of the great Sir Guy whose other son William had died without issue in 1397 The deed of arrangement is extant and is d 16th December 1488 under it the Barony of Walwyn's Castle was allotted to Henry Earl of Northumberland in whose family it remained until the attainder of his successor in 1572

The Barony had before that been united to the new shire of Pembroke but the Pembrokeshire possessions of the de Brians and Laugharne were granted to Sir John Perrot

Dale ---Vale

Acc /to Old Pembrokeshire names -- Owen

The family of tie Vale or Dale did not hold immediately of the Earl of Pembroke they had large possessions principally in the Baronies of Walwyn's Castle and of Kemes and as their history is somewhat obscure The first we hear of is de Vale Hubert 1131 who held lands at Maenclochog-and was a witness to de Tours' Martin charter to St Dogmael's' This was late in the reign of Henry I and about the same time namely in 1131 there is mention of a de Vale Hubert and his son

de Vale William 1131

In 1155 a Hubert de Vale held lands at Chippenham in the county of Wilts ' there is nothing to show that this was the same man and the name de Vale appears in various contemporary records in other counties

About 1219

de Vale Raymond 1219 and de Vale Gilbert 1207

de Vale Walter 1229 were witnesses to the Marshall charters to Haverford this would seem to be the same Gilbert de Vale who in 1207 had a successful suit' against de Brian William for half a Knight's fee at Castellogh in Carmarthen and who was a witness to de la Roche's David charter to St David's ' But there must have been two Gilberts de Vale in succession as a de Vale Gilbert 1241 was a witness as seneschal of Pembroke to Marshall Walter 's charter to Monkton Priory 1241-6 and to the charters by Wallensis Thomas and to de la Roche Tankard mentioned in the de la Roche paper"

The later Gilbert de Vale had a grant from Marshall Gilbert Earl of Pembroke 1234-41 of the mill at St Ishmael's and a carucate of land there also of the stream of Corslery to make a fisheiry for eels but in the construction of the weir he is to be careful not to damage the Earl's moor and another grant from Marshal Walter the brother and successor of Gilbert of further land adjoining' The same Gilbert de Vale also granted to Fitz Martin Nicholas lord of Kemes pleas of theft and murder in all his lands in Kemes except Little Newcastle and his name appears first among the witnesses to the agreement between Nicholas Fitz Martin and Jordan of Cantington'

The fortune of the house culminated in de Vale Robert 1268 the last of the male line who was one of the leading men in Pembrokeshire in the reign of Edward I He was a witness to the charter of Wallensis Thomas mentioned above and to the Precelli charter of Nicholas Fitz Martin in which last he is described as a Knight" He had bought land at Little Newcastle of Isabella the wife of Roger the Carver and there is extant a bond by Isabella for the quiet enjoyment of the land by the lord Robert de Vale under a penalty of one hundred pounds of silver and excommunication by the Lord Bishop of St David's " In 1268 he was present at the fine in the court of Pembroke between Philip of Stackpole and William Crespyng he was a witness to Adam Baret's charter as to Ford to William de Valence's charter to Tenby and to that by Geffrey Fitz Robert lord of Usmazton of the advowson of that church to St David's In 1298 he obtained from the King a grant of a weekly market and an annual fair to last three days for his manor of Dale and the like for his manor of Redwalls" Fagwyr Goch in Morvill parish In the following years he was involved as regards his fees at Mulhok and Byketon Mullock and Bicton in the proceedings between Earl William de Valence and the bailiffs of Queen Eleanor but in his case also the Earl was unable to maintain his claim for in 1297 there was a writ to the King's bailiff at Haverford ordering him to take into the King's hands all the lands in his bailiwick of which Robert de Vale who held of the King in capite was seised at the of his death" He seems to have held lands in Ireland as in 1283 he had a licence to appear by attorney in the Irish

Courts" There is also a letter from Earl William de Valence to the King praying that Robert de Vale whose presence in West Wales was necessary for the King's service should be excused from attendance at certain legal proceedings at Shrewsbury"

Sir Robert de Vale was married twice first to de Wideworth Avelina" and then to Margaret who survived him he left four daughters and his estate was divided into four portions as appears from the charter in 1303 of Hascard Geffreyas to a rent at Johnston which had been granted to him by de la Roche David which he calls upon the heirs of Robert de Vale to warrant" These heirs were de la Roche Gilbert of Llangum the husband of one of the daughters and the father of David Wogan John who had married Margaret daughter of Sir Robert or according to another account daughter of Roger Corbet and Nesta de Vale de Rosshall Thomas who had married Nesta the widow of Roger Corbet ap Owen Llywelyn a descendant of the Lord Rhys who married Elen de Vale and had Trefgarn Owen for his share their youngest son Thomas had two daughters one of whom was the mother of Owen Glyndwr and the other the grandmother of Owen Tudor " and de Sutton John who was a husband or son of another daughter" Teuton following Lewys

Dwnn"" mentions another daughter Sarah who married William of Philbeach she was obviously not a daughter of Sir Robert she may have been a daughter of John of Sutton de Vale Elen daughter and co-heiress of Sir Robert de Vale who married Llywelyn ap Owen Old Pembrokeshire Families Owen

de Vale Sarah daughter of Robert de Vale lord of Dale married ffibatch Will of Philbeach Farm house near Marloes chief bard to Sir Rhys ap Thomas South Pembrokeshire Place Names P Valentine Harris

Edwardes –Lord Kensington

an Irish Peerage descended from the Edwardes of Sealyham Edwardes Francis MP for Haverfordwest married the daughter of William Warren of Longridge Pembs

Edwardeses of Sealyham, near Haverfordwest, had been long established in the shire, but it was a younger son who founded the fortunes of the family by marrying Rich Lady Elizabeth, daughter of the fifth earl of Warwick who also bore the title of Baron Kensington. Her son inherited the Rich estates but not the titles in 1759, on the death of his cousin, the seventh earl, and he was, himself, created

Baron Kensington in the peerage of Ireland in 1776/5 By arrangement with Lord Milford he represented Haverfordwest for over fifty years, and was succeeded by his son, the second baron, who held the seat until 1818. Lord Kensington acquired property in Pembrokeshire both through inheritance and through purchase, but his large estates were located in England

Edwardes William 1777-1852 a politician, before his elevation to the peerage was a grandson of Francis Edwardes, M.P. for Haverfordwest, inherited the title in 1801 and returned as MP for Haverfordwest in 1802

Edwardes William 1801-71 succeeded his father married Ellison Laura Jane daughter of Ellison Cuthbert of Hepburn

Edwardes George Warren 1802-79 the third son of Francis ,was governor of Labuan

John, esq. Before the Pembrokeshire Courts 1730-1830,

Edwardes William 1777-1852 Lord Kensington,, a politician, before his elevation to the peerage was a grandson of Francis Edwardes, M.P. for Haverfordwest, who married the daughter of William Warren, of Longridge, Pembrokeshire. The family traces its pedigree to Ynyr ap Cadfarch lord, of both Maelors, Oswestry, and Whittington in Powys, one of the barons of that Kingdom. The subject of this sketch succeeded his father to the title an Irish peerage in 1801, and in the following year was returned M.P. for Haverfordwest. He appears to have deserted the Tory principles of his ancestors for Whiggism, and in February, 1806, Lord Grenville appointed him a Junior Civil Lord Commissioner for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom, and of the seas and admiralties thereof. He was succeeded by his son William 1801-72. His third son, George Warren Edwardes 1802-79, was governor of Labuan and his fourth son, Richard 1807, acted as minister-plenipotentiary to the Argentine Republic. The Red Dragon Burke's Peerage, Baronetage, 1882 Eminent Welshmen 1908

Edwards , Samuel , 1814-1872 a Congregational minister, was born in the neighbourhood of Glandwr, Pembrokeshire. Having spent a short time at Llanboidy, under the instruction of the Rev. Davies W. of Rhydyceisiaid, he was ordained at Ceidio, Carnarvonshire, in 1838. In 1839 he received an invitation to become minister of the church at Graig, Machynlleth, and its branches, which he faithfully served until 1851, when he gave up the church at Graig, and confined his labours more especially to the churches at Zoar, Glasbwl, and Derwenlas. He was a man of fine natural abilities, a striking and effective preacher, and of undoubted piety. Eminent Welshmen

poor of The parrish of Eglwswrw.

Whereas Margarett the wife of Evan David of yow parish hath made oath before us John Warren and Robert Griffiths esquire, two of His Majesty's justices of the peace for the said county of Pembroke, that she is very poor and impotent and utterly unable to provide for herself and family, so that they must inevitably perish unless timely relieved, and that the last place of her legal settlement was and is in this the said parish, and that she the said Margarett applied herself to the overseers of the poor of the said parish as the law directs and was by them denied relief.

And having summoned the overseers of the poor of the said parish to shew cause why relief should not be given her the said Margarett, and they having appeared before us did not make any sufficient cause appear.

These are therefore in His Majesty's name to command you to pay unto the said Margarett a sum of sixpence per week for and towards the support and maintenance of the said Margarett and her family until such time as she the said Margarett shall be better able to provide for herself and family or that you shall be otherwise ordered to forbear making the said allowance. Given under our hands and seals. Bronwydd

Evans Daniel 1774-1835 a Congregational minister and author, was a native of Eglwysrw, Pembrokeshire. At an early age he became a church member, and soon afterwards began to preah, with great enthusiasm, from house to house. He thus trained himself for his future work, and became very successful as a home missionary. He went to Bangor, where his salary, owing to the congregation numbering only 25 members, was £10 a year. Fortunately, he had a little private means. Eminent Welshmen 1908

Evans Morgan , 1830-1899 a journalist and specialist in live stock and agricultural subjects, was a native of South Wales, and died at Fishguard. In 1870, in conjunction with the well-known veterinary expert, the late Professor Gamgee, he started a paper entitled "A Milk Journal," which had for its object the drawing of the attention of Parliament to the then wholesale adulteration of milk. Their efforts were speedily successful, as, in 1872, milk was placed within the scope of the "Adulteration of Foods Act." C. & D. Herald. Eminent Welshmen

Fenton Richard 1746-1821 the author, was born at St David's Pembrokeshire, and received his early education at the Cathedral School. He subsequently entered the Middle Temple, and there studied for the legal profession. He afterwards practised at the Irish, English, and Welsh, bar, both in North and South Wales. During his stay in the Metropolis he met Dr. Johnson, and was on intimate terms with Goldsmith and David Garrick. He was a good Greek, Latin, and French scholar, The last twenty or thirty years of his life were devoted to literary pursuits. He was a very intimate friend of Sir Richard Hoare, at whose suggestion he undertook and published his "Historical Tour through Pembrokeshire," London, 1810, 4to. a work of high character, containing much interesting information. He also wrote "A Tour in quest of Genealogy," 1811, 8vo. and the "Memoirs of an Old Wig," both of which were published anonymously He also wrote "A Tour in Quest of Genealogy," 1811 and a very caustic reply to the strictures of Dr. Burgess, bishop of St David's on his "Historical Tour." An "Index to the Historical Tour," compiled by Henry Owen, was published in 1894. He is described by one who knew him as "a man of indefatigable industry, of a fine poetical fancy, of a very cheerful disposition, of particularly gentlemanly and fascinating manner, and a person of the best information, almost on every subject, he ever knew." He married the daughter of Fillet David, a Swiss military officer, the personal friend of the second duke of Marlborough, who brought him over, and induced him to settle in this country. By her he had a family who survived him. He died at the age of seventy-five, in November, 1821, and was buried at Manorowen near Fishguard. -- Eminent Welshmen - R Williams 1852

Francis Richard 1823 of Llys-y-fran, near Haverfordwest, Pembrokeshire, emigrated to Prattsburg, Steuben County, New York, had son Francis ,John M .,- , an American ambassador, The son had commenced life as a printer, and afterwards became editor of the Rochester Daily Advertiser. He subsequently became proprietor of the Troy Times, one of the most influential daily papers in Central New York. He was a member of the State Constitutional Convention of 1868-9, and took a leading part in the deliberations of that body. In 1871 General Grant appointed him minister to Greece, where he served for three years. It was the intention of President Garfield to nominate him minister to Brussels, but this was not realised owing to the President's untimely death. President Arthur, however, sent him as minister to Portugal. In 1882 he was promoted to Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Austro-Hungary, where he remained until he was relieved by his Democratic successor. Industry, conscientiousness, and absolute fidelity to duty were conspicuous traits in his character, and great success crowned all his efforts. The Cambrian,.

Frost William

Frost Bill 1850-1935 from Pembs, he designed a flying machine that he claimed to have flown at Stammer Hill, Saundersfoot, on September, 1895. The machine hit a tree after take off documentary proof is missing. Lewis Arnold, Cecil Ewart, Private, 35027, Welsh, Regiment. Arnold, was the son of Benjamin and Elizabeth Lewis, of Pontycymmer, Garw Valley, Glamorgan. Benjamin and Elizabeth were both from Saunderfoot, and had moved to Pontycymmer looking for work, which is where Arnold, was born. When Arnold, was just 6 years old his parents died from TB, and so Arnold, and his sister Elizabeth went to live with their Aunt and Uncle Bill and Ann Frost, in Stammers, Saunderfoot. Arnold, lived there until enlisting at Bridgend into the Army, and he was posted to the 15th Battalion, Welsh, Regiment. The 15th Welsh, had been formed during October, 1914 as the Carmarthenshire Battalion, and moved to Rhyl for training. They became part of the 114th Brigade, 38th Welsh, Division the following year, and moved to France during December, 1915 and moved to positions near Richebourg, in French Flanders. This was known as the 'Nursery Sector' where new units were blooded into trench life, and after an initial, relatively quiet spell in the lines, the Division moved further south during the Spring of 1916, taking up positions near Ginchy. It was here that Arnold, lost his life, when he was killed on the 9th March, 1916. Arnold, was just 22 years old, and is buried at Guards Cemetery, Windy Corner, Cuinchy. William Bill Frost 28 May 1848 – March 1935 was a Welsh amateur aviator, who, some believe, made a manned flight of considerable distance in a winged powered flying machine of his own design. His father was John Frost and his mother Rebecca Frost. Patent description "The flying machine is propelled into the air by two reversible fans revolving horizontally. When sufficient height is gained, wings are spread, and tilted by means of a lever, causing the machine to float onward and downward. When low enough the lever is reversed causing it to rise upward & onward. When required to stop it the wings are tilted so as to hold against the wind or air and lowered by the reversible fans. The steering is done by a helm fitted to front of machine." The patent seems to contradict itself slightly in the next paragraph which says, "The steering is done by a Rudder at both ends."

Frost reportedly made a flight, presumably using these techniques, on or about 24 September 1896. Observers said the machine flew about 500 metres, then crashed into bushes, outdistancing the 120 feet in 12 seconds by the Wright brothers in their first powered flight, which did not feature a vertical takeoff. During the night following the flight, a violent storm destroyed and scattered the flying machine. Frost applied for a patent which was accepted and registered in London on 25

Gambold Family - Moravian movement in Haverfordwest

Gambold George d. 1755 Son of William Snr He was for a while a methodist , there is a letter of his T.L., 1256 , 28 Dec. 1744 to Howel Harris, and in 1748 he was an exhorter . He continued his brother's school at Haverfordwest . In his turn, he too became a Moravian , and helped found the society which was in 1763 to become the Moravian congregation at Haverfordwest — the only one in Wales .He died in 1755 Moravian Archives Journal of the Hist. Soc. Presb. Church of Wales , Sept., 1961

Gambold Hector b Puncheston 1714 son of William Snr he emigrated to USA in 1742 and d. in Pennsylvania in 1788 Journal of the Hist. Soc. Presb. Church of Wales , Sept., 1961

Gambold John 1711-1771 MA , son of William Snr -Moravian bishop . Born 10 April 1711 at Puncheston , he matriculated 10 Oct. 1726 from Christ Church , where he came to know Charles Wesley and became one of the ‘ Oxford methodists .’ He graduated in 1730 , was ordained in 1733 , and in 1735 was appointed vicar of Stanton Harcourt near Oxford , but in 1739 he met Zinzendorff and began to lean towards Moravianism . Resigning his living in 1742 , he married in 1743 and returned to Pembrokeshire, to keep school in Market-street , Haverfordwest . But in 1744 he removed to London and formally joined the Brethren's Church , in which he became a bishop in 1753 .Richard Morris had contacts with him in London Morris Letters , ii, 140-1, 221, and even his amused cynicism cannot help noting how the bishop ‘despises riches, having thrown up a good living to take up his present way of life, wherein he has no income at all, and delights in appearing poor and slovenly’ — his brother Lewis comments, ‘such were the bishops of the primitive times.’ In 1768 , Gambold 's health broke down, and he returned as congregation pastor to Haverfordwest, where he died. 13 Sept. 1771 on the anniversary of his father's death, he was buried behind the Brethren's chapel . Over and above his mission-work, Gambold was a considerable Greek and Patristic scholar . His theology was ‘quietist’ and mystical. He had not forgotten his native language, in 1760 , he revised and saw through the press a Welsh, translation Un Ymadrodd ar Bumtheg ynghylch Iesu Grist of Zinzendorff's ‘ Berlin Discourses ,’, and in 1770 he published a Welsh, Moravian hymn-book, Ychydig Hymnau allan o Lyfr Hymnau Cynulleidfaoedd y Brodyr see Cymm. , xlv, 112 Journal of the Hist. Soc. Presb. Church of Wales , Sept., 1961 Eminent Welshmen —R Williams 1852

Gambold William 1672 - 1728 cleric and grammarian . His son, bishop Gambold in a letter printed in the preface to the first edition of John Walter's 's English-Welsh, Dictionary , states that he was born 10 Aug. 1672 , 'of reputable parents' who destined him for the church and gave him good schooling. He was according to some records a a burgess of Cardigan in virtue of his ownership of the Nag's Head tavern Cardigan But according to Foster Alumni Oxon . he was eighteen, 'pauper puer,' son of William Gambold of Cardigan , when he matriculated at S. Mary Hall , Oxford , 23 May 1693 . He migrated to Exeter College in 1694 , but there is no record of graduation. On 1 Dec. 1709 he became rector of Puncteston with Llanychaer, Pembs. , but it would seem that he had previously been curate there, for in Nov. 1707 he was keeping school at Llanychaer William Gambold 's wife was Elizabeth , it is said that she was of the neighbouring parish of Letterston but her surname is not known. He had five children John the eldest born 1711, William born. 1712 or 1713 Hector born 1714 the third son, George and Martha His son tells us that he was a most devoted parish priest . At Oxford he had been a friend of Edward Lhuyd who acknowledges help given to him by Gambold in preparing his's additions in Gibson 's edition of Camden 's Britannia . As early as 1707 Gambold was planning a Welsh, dictionary, and this became his main occupation later on, when an accident disabled him from parochial work. It was finished in 1722 , but Gambold failed to get money to publish it. In the Morris Letters ii, 140-1, 221, 224, we hear of the bishop trying to sell the manuscript without success to the lexicographer Thomas Richards, of Coychurch Eminent Welshmen –R Williams 1852 West Wales Records , ii,

226, iii, 250 Cymm. Trans. , 1904-5

Gambold William 1712 Jnr, never left the methodist movement . He began to exhort in 1766 , and itinerated in North Wales Meth. Cymru , ii, 304, he was a great friend of Howel Harris None the less, he was on the friendliest terms with the Brethren , and interesting reminiscences of his on the religious history of Pembrokeshire have been preserved in the Moravian archives. By 1770 , at latest, he was farming near Llawhaden . He was still alive in 1794 Journal of the Hist. Soc. Presb. Church of Wales , Sept., 1961 Cylch. Cynd. Hanes M.C. , iv, 55

Henry, one of the martyrs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, was born July 18, 1853, in the town of Haverfordwest Pembrokeshire, South Wales, son of Duggan George and Gibbs. Ellen Phillips He was baptized a member of the Church, August 28, 1860. He immigrated to Utah with his parents in 1866, and on November 2, 1874, he married Louisa O Bray, daughter of O Bray Thomas L. and Shelton Martha. He was ordained a Deacon in January 1862 and ordained an Elder in March 1871. Sunday, August 10, 1884, Elder Gibbs and two other missionaries, Elders Berry and Thompson, were preparing to hold a Church meeting at the Cane Creek home of Condor James. It was about 11,00 A.M. when a dozen desperadoes under the leadership of one David Hinson took deliberate aim at Elder Gibbs. When the volley came Elder Gibbs fell with a charge of buckshot in his side, under the arm and died

Giraldus De Barri Cambrensis 1146

generally called Cambrensis, was descended from an illustrious lineage, being the fourth son of de Barri William, a person of high distinction, by Angharad daughter of Nest daughter of Rhys ab Tewdwr, prince of South Wales. He was born in the year 1146, at the castle of Maenor Pyr, in Pembrokeshire, and at an early age he showed such indications of literary talent and religious feeling, that his father determined to educate him for the church, and his uncle, David FitzGerald, then bishop of St David's undertook the charge. He continued under his care until his twentieth year, when he went to Paris, and remained there for three years, giving lectures on rhetoric and the belles lettres, and being pointed out by the doctors of the university as a pattern to the young men of his age. On returning to England about 1172, he entered holy orders, and soon obtained preferment, being appointed a Canon of Hereford, and rector of Chesterton, in Oxfordshire but his love for his native country induced him to settle in Wales, where he distinguished himself by his zeal for the church, and detected several abuses which prevailed in the diocese of St David's. Having stated his complaints to the archbishop of Canterbury, he was by him appointed his legate in Wales for the purpose of rectifying abuses. The archdeacon of Brecon having been deprived for his immorality, Giraldus was appointed to that archdeaconry, and on the death of his uncle, the Canons of St. David's elected Giraldus to succeed him, which the King objected to with this high encomium, "that it was neither expedient nor necessary to elect too upright or active a man to the vacant see of St David's, as such a choice might prove detrimental to the cathedral church of Canterbury, or even to the crown of England." Giraldus then returned to Paris, where he distinguished himself by his eloquent declamation in the schools, and was offered the professorship of Canon Law in that university. After a residence of some duration he returned to Wales, and found the diocese of St David's in great confusion, and the bishop, Peter de Leia, compelled to leave his episcopal residence, owing to disputes which had arisen between him and the Welsh, upon this he was appointed administrator of the diocese. In 1185, he was selected by King Henry to be the preceptor of his son John, whom he accompanied to Ireland as secretary, and he was offered the bishoprics of Ferns and Leighlin, which he refused, as he did the archbishopric of Cashel, at a subsequent period. During his residence in Ireland, he was diligent in collecting materials for his two works, the Topography and Conquest of Ireland, which he completed after his return to Wales. In 1187, he accompanied Baldwin, in the celebrated tour through Wales, for the preaching of the Crusade, the most interesting result of which is to be found in his Itinerary, describing the country he traversed, and containing much interesting information respecting the manners of the Welsh, in that age. In 1189, Giraldus attended Henry to France, and on his return to England after the death of that monarch, he was deputed to regulate matters in Wales, where some disturbances had occurred, and King Richard appointed him coadjutor to William de Longchamp, in the regency of the Kingdom, on his departure to the holy land. Giraldus was next offered the bishoprics of Bangor and Llandaff, both of which he declined. He next resided at Lincoln for six years, where he devoted himself to the study of theology, and here wrote several of his works. In 1198, on the death of Peter de Leia, he was again elected by the chapter of St David's but the jealousy of the archbishop of Canterbury prevented his obtaining the favourite aim of his whole life. Not willing to yield without a struggle, he went to Rome, and for five years he withstood the encroachment of the archbishop, failing however of success, he passed the remainder of his life in revising his numerous works, and when the bishopric was offered to him on dishonourable terms in 1215, he refused it, and he ended his distinguished career in 1220, at the age of 74, and was buried in the cathedral. In whatever point of view we examine the character of this extraordinary man, whether as a scholar, a patriot, or a divine, he may justly be considered as one of the brightest luminaries of the twelfth century. A catalogue of his works has been preserved, as drawn up by himself, but it is not complete, it contains nineteen different works. 1, Chronographia et Cosmographia Metrica. 2, Topo-graphia Hibernica. 3, Expugnatio Hiberniae. 4, De Legendis Sanctorum. 5, Vita Sti. Davidis. 6, Vita Sti. Caradoci. 7, Vita Stiethelberti. 8, Vita Sti. Remigii. 9, Vita Sti. Hugonis. 10, Liber de Omotionibus et Persecutionibus Gaufredi, Ebor. Abpi. 11, Symbolum Electorum. 12, Liber Invectionum. 10, Speculum Duorum Commonitorium et Consolatorium. 14, Gemma Ecclesiastica. 15, Itinerarium Cambriae. 16, Cambriae Topographia. 17, De Fidei Fructu, &c. 18, De Principis Instructione. 19, De Gestis Giraldi laboriosis. In addition to these, it appears that he wrote also the Life of Henry II. the Acts of King John, an English Chronicle, the Praises of Wales, and a metrical Epitome of his Cambrian Topography, besides several others of inferior interest. His works relating to Ireland were published by Camden, at Frankfort, in 1602, and those having reference to Wales by Dr. Powell, in 1585, and by Wharton, in his "Anglia Sacra," where may likewise be found his book "De Gestis Giraldi." The most valuable edition is that by Sir Richard Hoare, 4to. London, 1806, who also published a translation with notes in two splendid 4to. volumes in the same year. This contains also a full memoir of his life, and an ample account of his works and the places where the different manuscripts are deposited. Eminent Welshmen —R Williams 1852

Geraldus Summery

Cambrensis Geraldus c1146 birthplace was Manorbier c.1146. Son of de Barri William and the lovely Angharad . She was the daughter of Nest who was the wife of de Windsor Gerald. Nest was daughter of Rhys ap Tewdwr was the of prince of South Wales.

Manorbier was "alarmed" during his boyhood, probably when Tenby was taken by the Welsh, in 1153. He is reputed to have taken refuge in the Church. He was the youngest of four Brothers, two of which took part in the Anglo Norman conquest of Ireland.

Began his studies under guidance of his Uncle FitzGerald David Bishop of St Davids then St Peter,s Abbey, Gloucester and then Paris.

1172. Returned to Dyfed and successfully executed a minor mission for Archbishop Richard.

Gerald of Wales, The Journey through Wales 1188 AD Extracts.

The Description of Wales

His first stay in France seems to have lasted till 1174, he then returned to Britain and was immediately given livings in England and Wales. According to W. L. Williams he held the livings of Llanwnda, Tenby and Angle and afterwards the prebend of Mathry, the living of Chesterton in Oxfordshire, was also prebendary of Hereford, Canon of St David's and in 1175, when only 28 years old became Archdeacon of Brecon.

"We crossed the River Tywi in a boat and travelled to Carmarthen, leaving Llanstephan and Laugharne on the rocks by the seashore on our left. These were the two castles which Rhys ap Gruffydd took by assault after the death of Henry II,... the garrisons being forced to capitulate. Rhys then ravaged the provinces of Pembroke and Rhos with fire and sword, completely devastating the whole neighbourhood and besieged Carmarthen, but failed to take it." Immediately after the death of Henry II in July 1189, Rhys ap Gruffydd attacked and captured the two castles of Laugharne and Llanstephan, ravaged Pembroke and Rhos and besieged Carmarthen, Gerald had been sent home from Normandy by Richard I to promote peace in Wales. According to him he had some success.

Carmarthen is the site of a Hill fort of the Demetae known by the latinised Celtic name of Maridunum. Under the Romans it was an important centre where many roads met. In Gerald's day part of the Roman walls was still standing.

p140

"When we were travelling from Carmarthen to the Cistercian monastery called Whitland Whitland Abbey had been moved from Little Trefgarn near Haverfordwest C1151 the Archbishop was told by messengers of how a young Welsh, man, who was coming to meet him in all devotion , had been murdered on the way by his enemies. He turned aside from the road, ordered the bloody corpse to be wrapped in his almoners cloak and with pious supplication commended the soul of the murdered youth to heaven. The next day twelve archers from the nearby castle of St Clears, who had killed the young man, were signed with the Cross in Whitland as a punishment for their crime".

p141

"The folk who live in the neighbourhood came from Flanders, for they had been sent there by Henry I to colonize the district" The Flemings seem to have come at various times, in 1105, 1107 and 1111. "They are a brave and robust people but very hostile to the Welsh, and in a perpetual state of conflict with them. They are highly skilled in the wool trade, ready to work hard and face danger by land or sea in the pursuit of gain, and, as time and opportunity offer, prompt to turn their hand to the sword or the ploughshare."

p145

"A strange habit of these Flemings is that they boil the right shoulder blades of rams, but not roast them, strip off all the meat and, by examining them, foretell the future and reveal the secret of events long past."

p147

"The province of Pembroke comes next after Rhos, lying towards the south and by the sea, indeed, a branch of the sea divides the two. Its main town, also called Pembroke, is the capital of Dyved. It is built high up on an oblong plateau of rock, and it extends along the north and the south of an inlet of the sea which runs down from Milford haven. Hence it's name Pembroke, which means the head of the estuary."

"de Montgomery Arnulf was the first to build a fortification here, from wooden stakes and turf, in the days of Henry I, King of the English." Arnulf de Montgomery, younger son of Roger de Montgomery, Earl of Shrewsbury, built his first fortress at Pembroke c.1091, in the reign of William Rufus. It was not very strong and it offered little resistance. When he went back to England, Arnulf left the fortress and a small garrison in the charge of de Windsor Gerald, a stalwart cunning man, who was his constable and lieutenant. Grandfather of Gerald of Wales.

"without more ado the inhabitants of South Wales began to lay siege to the place" This was the uprising of 1096. The Welsh, leaders of the attack on Pembroke were ab Edwin Uchtryd and ap Gronw.Hywel They had just lost their prince, Rhys ap Tewdwr, a warlike leader, who had been betrayed by his own troops in Brecknockshire, and they were left with his son Gruffydd, who was still a boy. ap Tewdwr Rhys was killed near Brecon in April 1093.

Under cover of darkness 15 Knights deserted the fortress in desperation, clambered into a boat and tried to escape over the water. The very next morning Gerald transferred their estates to 15 of their own men-at-arms, dubbing them there and then as Knights. The siege lasted a long time, and those inside were greatly reduced and near the end of their tether. When they had hardly any provisions left, Gerald, who, as I have said was a cunning man created the impression that they were still well supplied and expecting reinforcements at any moment. For he took four hogs, which were all that they had, cut them into sections and hurled them over the palisade at the besiegers. The following day he thought of an even more ingenious stratagem. He signed a letter with his own seal and had it placed just outside the lodging of Wilfred, Bishop of St David's who chanced to be in the neighbourhood. This was at Llamphey, two miles away. Wilfred seems to have been Bishop of St David's from c.1083 onwards. There it would be picked up almost immediately, and the finder would imagine that it had been dropped accidentally by one of Gerald's messengers. The purport of the letter was that the constable would have no need of reinforcements from Arnulf for a good four months. When this dispatch was read, to the Welsh, they immediately abandoned the siege and went off home."

The next thing Gerald did was to marry Nest the sister of Gruffydd, Prince of South Wales, with the object of giving himself and his troops a firmer foothold in the country he married her c1100, she was the maternal grandmother of Gerald of Wales. In the process of time she bore him a large number of children, both boys and girls. With the help of this family the sea coast of South Wales was held secure by the English and Ireland too, was stormed, as is narrated in my "Vaticinal History". The Conquest of Ireland".

p150

"Only about 3 miles from Pembroke Castle is the fortified mansion known as Manorbier, that is the house of one Pyrrus. The same man also owned Caldy Island, called by the Welsh, Ynys Byr, which means the Island of Pyrrus. There the house stands, visible from afar because of its turrets and crenellations, on the top of a Hill which is quite near the sea and which on the western side reaches as far as the harbour. To the north and north-west, just beneath the walls there is an excellent fish pond, well constructed and remarkable for its deep waters. On the same side there is a most attractive orchard, shut in between the fish pond and a grove of trees, with a great crag of rock and hazel nut trees which grow to a great height. At the east end of the fortified promontory, between the castle, if I may call it such, and the church, a stream of water which never fails winds its way along a valley, which is strewn with sand by the strong sea winds. It runs from a large lake, and there is a water mill on its bank. To the west it is washed by a winding inlet of the Severn Sea which forms a bay quite near the castle and yet looks out toward the Irish Sea. If only the rocky headland to the south bent round northwards a little farther, it would make a harbour most convenient for shipping. Boats on their way to Ireland from almost any part of Britain scud by before the east wind, and from this vantage point you can see them brave the ever changing violence of the winds and the blind fury of the waters. This is a region rich in wheat, with fish from the sea and plenty of wine for sale. What is more important than all the rest is that, from its nearness to Ireland, heaven's breath smells so wooingly there.

Of all the different parts of Wales, Dyfed, with its seven cantrefs, is at once the most beautiful and the most productive. Of all Dyfed, the province of Pembroke is the most attractive, and in all Pembroke the spot which I have just described is most assuredly without its equal. It follows that in all the broad lands of Wales Manorbier is the most pleasant place by far. You will not be surprised to hear me lavish such praise upon it, when I tell you that this is where my own family came from, This is where I myself was born. I can only ask you to forgive me. "

p156

Henry II arrived in Pembroke on 21st September 1171 on his way to Ireland . He was delayed by contrary winds for nearly a month.

p167

The King Henry II had left the following garrisons behind him in Ireland, in Dublin, de Lacy Hugh assassinated in 1186 to whom he had given Meath in fee, with twenty Knights to support him, FitzStephen Robert Robert FitzStephen was the son of the Princess Nest by Stephen, constable of Cardigan, and thus an uncle of Gerald. and FitzGerald Maurice Maurice FitzGerald was the son of the Princess Nest by her husband, Gerald of Windsor and thus both a half brother of Robert FitzStephen and an uncle of Gerald together with twenty more Knights.

p189

"Two great noblemen were sent to the island Anglesey by the King Henry II. They were my own uncles, Henry, son of Henry I and Uncle of Henry II, the child of Nest, the noble born daughter of Rhys ap Tewdwr, Prince of Dyved in South Wales, and Henry behaved far too rashly and, with no support from his troops, fell in the first line of battle, pierced by a number of spears, to the great grief of his soldiers. and FitzStephen Robert, Henry's brother, but by a different father. Robert was a man who, in our own time, led where others followed, for it was he who soon afterwards invaded Ireland. I have recorded his deeds in my "Vaticinal History". Robert was badly wounded and escaped with great difficulty to his ships, abandoning all hope of defence. "

p253

...." Long before the fall of Britain, the Welsh, were instructed and confirmed in the Christian Faith by Faganus and Duvainus who at the request of King Lucius, were sent to the island by Pope Eleutherius.

Later on, Germanus of Auxerre and Lupus of Troyes were sent over because of the corruption which had gradually resulted from the invasion of the pagan Saxons and more especially to put an end to the Pelagian heresy, but they found nothing heretical or contrary to the articles of true Faith." Gerald's references are Bede "Historia Ecclesiastica" I.4, I.17 and Geffrey of Monmouth, "The History of the Kings of England" IV.19, VI.13

High Sheriff of Pembrokeshire 1842

Gower Sir Erasmus 1742-1814 Bart., was the eldest son of Abel Gower, Esq. of Glandowen in Pembrokeshire, by Letitia only daughter of the Rev. Erasmus Gower, D.D. Being intended for the naval profession, he was sent to sea at a very early age, under the protection of his uncle, Captain John Donkeley. He went through the examination for the rank of lieutenant in 1762, and was soon after selected as one of the officers, whom it was deemed expedient to send into the Portuguese service. Though very young, he was appointed second captain of a ship of the line. It was not until the year 1766, that he was made a lieutenant, on his return from a voyage of discovery, in the Dolphin, under the command of Commodore Byron. He was now sent out as lieutenant of the Swallow, under captain Carteret. On coming home he was offered the lieutenancy of the Swift Sloop, then under orders for the Falkland islands, and in which he had the misfortune of being wrecked at Port Desire, on the coast of Patagonia. In March, 1775, he was appointed first lieutenant of the Levant frigate, and on the appointment of Sir George Rodney to the chief command on the West India Station, Gower was immediately chosen by him to be his first lieutenant on board the Sandwich. The British fleet fell in with a Spanish convoy, and out of twenty-seven sail of which it consisted, it captured twenty-six, seven of them being armed. The commodore's ship, called the Guipuscoana of sixty-four guns, was commissioned by Sir George, under the name of the Prince William, and Gower was appointed her captain. After the battle fought off Cape St. Vincent, he was successively removed into the Porcupine of twentyfour guns, the Enterprize of twenty-eight, and in February, 1780, into the Edgar of seventy-four as captain. In the following year he was appointed captain of the Medea frigate of twenty-eight guns, in which he sailed to the East Indies, and returned to England in 1784. He next went to the Newfoundland station in 1786, and some years afterwards, he had the command of the Lion of eighty-four guns, in which earl Macartney went as ambassador to China, before embarking he was knighted, and on the 9th of July, the squadron entered the Yellow Sea. For the great skill displayed by Sir Erasmus Gower in the difficult navigation of this sea, the reader is referred to Sir George Staunton's account of the embassy. In September, 1794, the Lion re-turned to England, In November he was appointed to the command of the Triumph of seventy-four guns, which was one of the squadron under admiral Cornwallis, when he made his celebrated retreat in the face of the French armament on the 17th of June, 1795, on this occasion Sir Erasmus was highly commended by the admiral. In 1798., he took the command of the ships intended to act against the mutineers, and afterwards tried sixty-eight of their number. In 1799, he was made rear admiral of the White.

.founder of Milford Haven town, Pembs. , second son of Francis , earl of Warwick , and his wife Elizabeth Hamilton . He became the agent , and subsequently the heir, of his mother's brother, Sir William Hamilton 1730 - 1803 , who had succeeded to a considerable estate in south Pembrokeshire through his marriage with Catherine Barlow of Colby d. 1782 . In 1790 Hamilton obtained a private act of parliament which enabled him to develop his Property in the manors of Hubberston and Pill , to build quays, docks, piers, to establish a market, provide roads, etc. Since he was absent from the country as British minister at the court of Naples 1764-1800 he entrusted the carrying out of the scheme to Greville . To this task Greville devoted himself with great energy. He built a custom-house for the convenience of shipping and an inn for the accommodation of passengers to Ireland . He invited several families of American Quakers , who had been engaged in South Sea whaling from Nantucket Island , Massachusetts , to settle at Milford . The first of them arrived in 1793 and for some years they carried on trade in spermaceti oil which had been used as an illuminant in London . He also induced the navy board to commission the building of frigates, the first contracts being signed in April 1797 . In the town itself, which was laid out in three Streets parallel with one another, he had a church built which was consecrated in 1808 and dedicated to S. Katherine . A Friends' meeting house was opened in 1811 in the enclosure where many members of the American immigrants are buried. Greville also projected a school or college of navigation provided with an observatory , which was never completed. He staged a first-class piece of publicity for his new town by inducing Sir William and Lady Hamilton , accompanied by Lord Nelson , to visit it in Aug. 1802 . The event, coinciding with the anniversary of the battle of the Nile , was celebrated by a cattle-show, sports, regatta, and a banquet at which Nelson made a speech in which he highly praised Greville 's achievements. The presence of Lady Hamilton 1765 - 1815 , née Amy Lyon and more generally known as Emma Hart , naturally attracted much attention. In her youth she had been a protégée of Greville . It was he who introduced her to his friend Romney , whose portrait studies of her are so well known. She subsequently went to Naples and in 1791 became the second wife of Sir William Hamilton . After the death of Greville in April 1809 , the new town entered upon a period of depression. Greville was succeeded by his younger brother Greville Robert Fulke 1751 - 1824 sometime equerry to King George III . He took but a tepid interest in his brother's projects. When the Admiralty proposed to purchase the site of the dockyard, for which it had been paying a yearly rent, he refused to accept its valuation. It was therefore decided to transfer the establishment to a site at Paterchurch , higher up the Haven and on the opposite side. This transfer was effected in 1814 and thus was founded Pembroke Dock , which remained a royal dockyard for over a century. The demand for spermaceti oil was struck a fatal blow by the growing use of coal gas as an illuminant. Robert Fulke Greville was succeeded by his son, also Greville Robert 1800 - 1867 He stood for the county in the general election of 1831 against Owen Sir John of Oriulton and was defeated by 109 votes. Both candidates felt the heavy financial strain of the contest. For the next twenty years Greville lived abroad. He served with the rank of major in the British Auxiliary Legion during the Carlist rising in Spain . Later he lived near Paris . In 1853 he returned to his estate and attempted to retrieve the fortunes of Milford . He took up his residence at the 18th cent. country house, Castle Hall , to which he made extensive additions. The South Wales railway reached Haverfordwest in 1854 and Greville made every effort to have it extended to Milford . When the directors decided to make Neyland the terminus he sought powers to effect a junction with it at Johnston . He also supported a project to construct a railway from Milford to Manchester through Mid Wales to secure for the port a share in the American trade. At his own cost he had a wooden pier, pier-house, and hotel built for the Irish traffic. He also had two bridges with road approaches constructed to facilitate lateral communication across the two inlets or pills between which the town lies. Against much local opposition he succeeded in getting an Improvement Act 1857 for the appointment of commissioners with power to levy a rate and raise capital to provide the town with gas-works, water-works, etc. His many schemes exhausted his resources. His estate was mortgaged far beyond its value and it passed to the most important creditor, the National Provident Institution. Greville died. on 12 Sept. 1867 and was buried in S. Katherine's church where his memorial records that 'he sacrificed his fortune in his endeavour to promote and develop the resources of this place.’

Griffith James Milo 1843-1897 a sculptor, was a native of Pembrokeshire, and was educated at the British School, in the parish of Llechryd, Cardiganshire. Here he shewed a taste for art, and became imbued with a strong desire to excel as a painter. But he was destined to take up the sister art of sculpture as a profession, although his sense of colour was equally as strong as that of form. When about 14 years of age he was apprenticed to Mr. Clark, the sculptor engaged upon the restoration of Llandaff Cathedral. In his nineteenth year he removed to London, and studied in the Lambeth School of Art, and the Royal Academy, where he won many prizes, including the silver medal in the Antique School, and the National medallion, the highest prize then given. He quickly rose to a leading position in his profession, and received many important commissions. His chief works are " Fine Arts," on the Holborn Viaduct , " The Four Evangelists," in Bristol Cathedral , the drinking Fountain at Bridgenorth , " Summer Flowers," at Margam Castle , " Sheridan's Ride," exhibited at the Chicago Exhibition , the statue of John Batchelor, in Cardiff, and of Sir Hugh Owen, in Castle Square, Carnarvon.

Griffiths William , 1777-1825 a Congregational minister and hymn-writer, was a native of Glandwr, Pembrokeshire, where his father was minister. He was educated at Wrexham, and afterwards succeeded his father in the pastorate of Glandwr. He wrote a number of excellent hymns, which appeared in the collection known as " Dyfroedd Cysur." The best known are , — " Iesu, cyfaill pechadur- iaid , " " Cod, fy enaid, cais yn awr," and " Dan dy fendith wrth ymadael." He also translated several favourite Welsh, hymns into English, a work in which he greatly excelled. Several of these appeared in The Evangelical Magazine, such as " Fix, Lord, Thy tent in Goshen , " " Great Redeemer, friend of sinners , " " Will not any old companion," and " ! what folly ! ! what madness." Eminent Welshmen 1908

Griffvth Robert 1728 June 19 John Warren and Robert Griffvth "To The ChurchWardens and Overseers of The poor of The parrish of Eglwswrw. Whereas Margarett the wife of Evan David of yow parish hath made oath before us John Warren and Robert Griffiths esquire, two of His Majesty's justices of the peace for the said county of Pembroke, that she is very poor and impotent and utterly unable to provide for herself and family, so that they must inevitably perish unless timely relieved, and that the last place of her legal settlement was and is in this the said parish, and that she the said Margarett applied herself to the overseers of the poor of the said parish as the law directs and was by them denied relief. And having summoned the overseers of the poor of the said parish to shew cause why relief should not be given her the said Margarett, and they having appeared before us did not make any sufficient cause appear. These are therefore in His Majesty's name to command you to pay unto the said Margarett a sum of sixpence per week for and towards the support and maintenance of the said Margarett and her family until such time as she the said Margarett shallbe better able to provide for herself and family or that you shallbe otherwise ordered to forbear making the said allowance. Given under our hands and seals."

Griffyth John 1404 24 November Also on 24 November, at London, in the year above-said, Mulward, Sir Thomas priest, of the diocese of St Davids , was presented to the reverend father aforesaid to the parish church of St. Petroc within the lordship of the manor of Stakpoll of the same diocese, by the discreet men Tolmode John and Botereil John, priests of the diocese aforesaid, lords of the said manor of Stakpoll, co. Pembroke, with the advowsons of all churches that are within the manor, and the other things pertaining to it, by a feoffment of the lady Vernon Joan, late lady of the said manor, patrons of the said church, now vacant by the death of Sir John Griffyth, last rector of the same, and belonging to the presentation of the said John and John. And the aforesaid reverend father committed to Master Kermerdyn John, official of St Davids , to enquire upon the vacancy of the said church and the other articles usually enquired of, in proper form, and if such inquisition find for the said presented to admit him to the said church, institute him and cause him to be inducted in the same, first taking of him the accustomed oath of obedience. And he had such his commission in the usual form.

Hamilton/Grenville of Hubberston and Pille

Milford –

Mr Laws puts it History of Little England 1888 p 400 “By very many persons it is supposed that Milford Haven takes its name from Milford town, but the great estuary was christened a thousand years ago while the town came into being during the last quarter of the 18c”

He then tells the story of the marriage of Miss Barlow of Colby to Sir William Hamilton by which the latter obtained possession of the manors of Pill and Hubberston how in 1784 Hamilton two years after the death of his wife visited Pembrokeshire with his nephew the Hon Charles Grenville, who immediately saw money in Milford Haven how Hamilton met the lovely Emma a domestic in Grenville's house in Paddington Green, and became infatuated with her how Emma was sold to him for £6000 by the honourable gentleman, who now took over and began to lay out his new town, that is Milford and how in 1802 a queer quartet assembled at Milford Charles Grenville, Sir William Hamilton, Lord Nelson and Emma by now Lady Hamilton

Acc/to Western Telegraph Then & Now Wed July 10 1991

“Nelson and the Hamiltons were at that time living in the famous M nage de Trios at Merton, Place near Wimbledon Nelson and Emma were lovers something which Sir William seemed to accept”

Charles Francis Grenville, Sir William's nephew and heir who had been Emma's lover before he introduced her to Sir William was managing the Hamilton Pembrokeshire estates for his uncle

Sir William had voiced concern over Grenville's reported financial excesses in developing the new town of Milford and had been invited down by Grenville to see for himself. The three left Merton, on July 21st 1802 and arrived at Milford on July 31st Nelson was feted all the way. They were greeted at Milford by Grenville and a flag waving throng at the New Inn Front St renamed two days later the Lord Nelson.

As the next day was the fourth anniversary of Nelson's Victory at the Nile, Grenville arranged a few days' celebrations including a sumptuous banquet at the New Inn attended by all the leaders of West Wales society. It was here that Nelson made his speech in praise of the Milford Haven Waterway and those involved with its development

They then visited Lord Milford at Picton near the home of the Barlows at Slebech were Sir William's first wife Catherine Barlow had been buried .

Haverfordwest was the next stop where they stayed in Foley House with Captain Foley a naval colleague He and Nelson were granted the Freedom of the Borough on the next day Aug 7th Aug 10th 1802 they visited Lord Cawder at Stackpole Court then Tenby before returning to Merton, via Birmingham which they reached on September 5th 1802.

Sir William Hamilton died, in the arms of Emma on 19th April 1803 and is buried alongside his first wife Catherine in the old Church at Slebech

Milford Haven - Mrs Mary Mirehouse,

Sir William Hamilton, Ambassador at Naples, grandson of the third Duke of Hamilton, married in 1758 Catherine, daughter of John Barlow of Slebech she died 1782. Through her he acquired Property at Milford Haven, for which his nephew, the Hon Charles Greville, son of the Earl of Warwick, acted as agent Charles Greville had taken up a very lovely girl, Emma Hart, whom Sir William much admired, calling her 'the fair tea-maker' when they met at Greville's house Greville started great schemes at Milford, planned docks, and built a large pier he was soon overwhelmed with debt, and then made a shameful bargain with Sir William, the result of which was that Emma was enticed to Naples, on the pretext of Masters for her beautiful voice and there fell into Sir William's hands After five years they returned to England, and were there married on September 6, 1791 Milford was transferred to Greville, with a settlement of £800 per annum on the bride. In 1800 the Government rented the Milford Shipbuilding Yard for fourteen years, and Greville, Sir William and Lady Hamilton, and Lord Nelson all met at a banquet given at the Lord Nelson Hotel at Milford by Greville apparently without any awkwardness being felt by anyone Charles Grenville died in 1809, leaving the Milford Property to his brother Robert. In 1814 the Government lease ran out, and was not renewed, the money demanded being too extortionate. From that time the fortunes of Milford declined, and untold sums were sunk and lost in the effort to revive them, both by Robert Greville and his son, also Robert. The latter finally quitted the place, his only son having been thrown from his horse and killed in Hyde Park. The Government in 1814 began to build the present dockyard on the site then known as Pater-church , the Haven Forts were afterwards built for its protection.

David Lloyd of Cilciffeth married Mary daughter of John Wogan of Wiston David Lloyd was mayor of Wiston in 1628 and died on Oct 4th 1631 their fourth daughter married 3 times the first being George Barlow of Minwear and Slebech whose administration was granted her on 17th July 1662. Their eldest son John Barlow, on whom his mother had settled her estates in 1662 also inherited his fathers estate of Slebech and was created a baronet in 1677.

He married Katherine Middleton and had 3 sons. The eldest George succeeded to the Properties but by 1708 had accumulated debts to the tune of over £8000 and to resolve his difficulties he conveyed the estates to his brother John who lived at Colby in Wiston Parish and Clarges St London. They had an only child according to her Mother a poor nervous creature delicate, pious, who played the harpsichord and enjoyed a rent roll of £5000 per annum. In 1758 Catherine Barlow, the sole heiress married Sir William Hamilton who became HM Envoy Extraordinary to the court of Naples. She died without issue and her estates passed to her husband In 1791 he married again to Amy Lyon „alias Emma Hart. Sir William died in 1803 and is buried near his first wife in the Barlow vault at Slebech Church. Sir William had a sister who married Francis 1st Earl of Warwick whose second son, Charles Francis Greville, acted as agent for his uncles Pembroke shire estates he founded the town of Milford and it was to him Sir William left the estates.

He died unmarried in 1809 and the Property passed to his next brother, Robert Fulke Greville who died in 1824 leaving the Property to his son and heir Colonel Robert Fulke Murray Greville. In 1831 he unsuccessfully contested the county parliamentary seat against Owen of Oreilton and amassed enormous debts. He left the area hurriedly and did not return for 20 years. He died in 1867 at Pier House Milford

Harold of Haroldstone

— The Harolds were originally of Harold stone West and afterwards acquired Haroldston St Issels Lewys Dwnn says that Alice was the daughter of Sir Richard, the son of Sir William, the son of another Sir Richard, but this is not borne out by the pedigree in the Golden Grove Book A Richard Harold was a witness to Earl Walter Marshall's charter to Monkton Priory, to Earl Gilbert's and Earl Walter 's charters to Gilbert de Vale, and to Geffrey Fitz Robert's grant of Uzmaston to St David's

In 1307 Harald of Haraudyston held half a fee at Haroldstone West of Guy de Brian, as of his barony of Castle Walwayn In 1323 William Harold was a witness to Aymer de Valence's charter to Slebech, and in the next year held one fee at HaroldstonSt Issels?, as of the honour of Haverford, worth 20 marks in 1326 he held of the Bishop at Warren, and in 1334, as constable of Pebidiog, he was a witness to the grant to the precentor and chapter of St David's by John Gonim of land by St Kenox in Llawhaden This was probably the William Harold of Haverford who did homage to the King in 1301' In 1345 Richard Harold was present at the arbitration between the tenants of Peter Russell and the precentor and chapter of St

David's this may have been the same man who was a juror at Pembroke in 1331

Harris Joseph 1773 was born at Llanty Dewi, in the parish of St Dogwell's, near Haverfordwest, in the year 1773

 He was the eldest son of William Harris, a farmer, who had no means of giving him a better education than could be obtained from the common schools of the district He was remarkable for devoting every spare hour from his childhood to the acquirement of knowledge, and when he was nine teen years of age, he became a member of the Baptist congregation at LlanglofFan in that district, and his good conduct and diligence caused an invitation to be given him to become a preacher, which office he undertook in 1795 Having given great satisfaction during his stay here, he removed in 1801 to Swansea, where he found that he lay under a great disadvantage from not being better acquainted with the English language To remedy this deficiency he went to the Baptist Academy at Bristol, where however his pecuniary means prevented his remaining longer than four months By great application he succeeded so far as to be an able preacher in English also, and he continued at Swansea in the enjoyment of great popularity and respect until the year 1823, when he lost an only son, whose death so deeply affected him, that he died himself on the 10th day of August, in that year, aged 52

The Mayor, Justice, Common Council, Burgesses and

Charles Moss, Bishop of St Davids Thomas Williams was Mayor in 1770-1 and 1772-3

Petition

Humbly sheweth unto your lordship that we have lived in a very unhappy state in regard to our religious worship since our present rector has come here, whose vociferous method of preaching is truly disagreeable to us And though we have made frequent applications to him to preach by notes as his worthy predecessor always did, and all other clergymen of the Church of England still do, yet he obstinately persists in following his methodistical custom of preaching extempore, and that so harsh and unintelligible to all capacities as he has prevented many well disposed Christians from frequenting the church This obstinate behaviour of our rector being truly grievous to your petitioners, they, by their ChurchWarden presented him in your lordship's court at Haverfordwest at your Lordship's last visitation, and also at two subsequent courts In order to prevent your petitioners from having justice done then our rector has for these two years last past elected one Thomas Howells a man of a despicable character to be his ChurchWarden who acts agreeable to the rector's desire and has in his presentment contradicted your petitioners ChurchWarden's presentment As your petitioners have hitherto had no redress, we humbly apprehend we have no other method of being relieved but by applying to your lordship by petition Your petitioners humble hope that your lordship will take their unhappy case into consideration unhappy, we may truly say, as we cannot go to our own church with any comfort to hear his thundering incoherent doctrine, and grant us such relief as to your lordship shall see fit There were about 70 signatories

Hylton Margaret 1402 Guy Bishop of St David's etc to William Rowe and Margaret Hylton, etc We have received Letters of the venerable father in Christ Francis, by divine compassion cardinal priest with the title of St Susannah penancer general of our lord the pope, presented on your behalf, containing this series of words To the venerable etc the bishop of St Davids or his vicar in spiritualities Francis etc as above, greeting etc
On behalf of William Rowe and Margaret Hilton, a wedded couple of your diocese, a petition has been offered to us containing that some time ago they not being aware of any impediment existing at the present time according to the custom of the country, and consummated this by connection of the flesh and begat offspring But afterwards it came to the knowledge of this couple that they are united with each other within the fourth degree of consanguinity And verily since if there were to be a divorce made between them grave scandals in all probability would result there from, the same wedded persons have caused humble supplication to be made for provision to be mercifully made for them upon these points by the apostolic see We therefore desiring provision to be made for the saving of their souls and for the avoiding of such scandals, by authority of the lord pope, the care of whose penitentiary we bear, and by his special man hereon made to us by the oracle of the living voice, commit it to your circumspection that if it be so, if the said woman have not for this cause been ravished from any one, to deal with these married people that not withstanding the impediment of such consanguinity be legitimate

We mercifully grant you a dispensation according to the form and effect of the before written Letters, by the authority committed to us in this behalf, in order that notwithstanding the impediment of such consanguinity you may lawfully remain in your marriage at another time in fact contracted between you, decreeing the offspring begotten and to be begotten of the marriage itself to be legitimate

In witness whereof etc d in our manor of Lantefey, 21

James of Pantaision

The family has lived at Pantaision as far back as records can be traced but it is very hard to trace the family records as until recently it was a tradition that the heir should be called William. They never seemed to make efforts to obtain larger possessions.

James John 1812 Col of Pantaision married Margaret Christian Taubman eldest daughter of Major Taubman of the Nunnery, Isle of Man. Had two sons the eldest and heir being John Taubman William James the second was the Rev Mark Wilks William James

James John Taubman William 1812 of Pantaision JP formerly and officer 83rd Regiment born 1812. Inherited the estate when only 7 years old in 1819. Married in 1836 Margaret Elizabeth eldest daughter of Capt Jones -Parry RN of Llwyn-Onn Denbighshire and had two children a boy Robert Lloyd James and a daughter Margaret Ellen James

James Robert Lloyd 1854 married 1872 Annie Sophia

eldest daughter of F W Docker of Bangor

James MarkWilks William 1846 Rev married in 1846 Charlotte Ellen daughter of Captain Jones Parry sister of his brother's wife and they had children.

James William

1721 Sir Bart, a distinguished officer, who was raised to eminence by his own merits, was the s on of a Miller, , and was born at Bolton Hill mill in Pembrokeshire, in the year 1721. At the age of twelve, he obtained his anxious wish to become a sailor. Devoting himself to the study of his profession, he gradually was promoted to responsible stations, and at the age of twenty he was mate of an Indiaman. In 1749, the East India Company appointed him to the command of a new ship called the Guardian, equipped as a ship of war, in which he sailed to the east, and for two years he was employed in convoying Merchant ships, and defending them against the numerous pirates, who infested those seas. In 1751, he was appointed commander in chief of the East India Company's marine forces, and hoisted his broad pendant on board the Protector of 44 guns. In 1756, he succeeded in completely destroying the power of the pirate Angria, and taking possession of his strongholds of Severndroog and Gheriah, lord Clive commanding the land forces. In the year 1759, Sir William returned to England, and was presented by the Company with an elegant gold-hilted sword, with a complimentary motto, expressive of their sense of his gallant conduct. Soon afterwards he was chosen a director of the East India Company, and he was a member of that respectable body for more than twenty years, in which time he had filled both the chairs. He was fifteen years deputy-master of the Corporation of the Trinity House a governor of Greenwich hospital and representative in parliament for West Looe. He was created a baronet July 25, 1778. He planned the reduction of Pondicherry during the American war, and received a rich service of plate from the India Company, as a testimony of their sense of his skill and judgment in that affair. He died December 16, 1783, aged 62. It is said by a person who knew him intimately near thirty years, and was well acquainted with his professional abilities, that as a thorough practical seaman, he was almost without an equal, as an officer, he was brave, vigilant, prompt, and resolute patient in difficulty, with a presence of mind that seemed to grow from danger. *Fenton's Pembrokeshire. Jessop Constantine 1624 a controversial writer, was the son of John Jessop, a clergyman of Pembroke. In 1624, he was entered at Jesus College, being then twenty-two years of age, whence he removed to Trinity college, Dublin, and took his degree of B.A. in that university. He returned to Oxford in 1631, and took his degree of M.A. in the following year, then being in holy orders. When the presbyterians began to be dominant in 1641, he joined that party, and took the covenant. He then succeeded John Owen in the ministry of Coggeshallin Essex, whence he was removed to Winbourne Minster in Dorsetshire, in which county he was an assistant to the commissioners in 1654, for the ejection of such as they then called scandalous and ignorant ministers and schoolmasters. He was for some time minister of St. Nicholas in Bristol, and in 1660, he was rector of Fyfield in Essex. Eminent Welshmen –R Williams 1852

Joces, or Joices, appear a good deal in the 14th century records. There were most of them called John, just to confuse. There are two pedigrees of them in the Golden Grove Book, which do not make things clearer.

Joce John 1296 was a witness to William de Valence's charter to Tenby before 1296," in 1308 to Aymer de Valence's confirmation charter to Monkton, and in 1323, being then a Knight, to that Earl's arrangement with Slebech.'" In the next year he held a quarter of a fee at Great Hoaton, as of the honour of Haverford, worth five marks, and half a fee at Jordaneston the Jordeston in St. Florence, as of the honour of Pembroke, worth ten marks" he died early in 1327, and the custos of Haverford accounted for the issues of Great Hoaton before John the son had proved his age."

Jones , John 1834-1887 , a Baptist minister and author, born at Letterstone, Pembrokeshire, manifested at an early age a taste for preaching, and when delivering his trial sermon at Caersalem, Dowlais, gave unmistakable evidence of his subsequent powers. He went from Dowlais to Haverfordwest

College, and in 1858 took charge of the church at Llanuwchllyn and the newly-formed church at Bala. After remaining there about four years, he became pastor of the churches at Brymbo and Moss, near Wrexham, where he laboured with signal success for eight years. In 1871, he accepted a pressing call from Felinfoel, near Llant-lly, a church of nearly 600 members, where he ministered earnestly and faithfully till his death sixteen years later. Eminent Welshmen 1908

Jones usually referred to as OT was born at Plasnewydd, Beulah near Newcastle Emlyn and was brought up as Welsh, speaking in a Welsh speaking community. Before he could go to the grammar school he had to learn English but he never forgot his Welsh, and the last paper he wrote at the age of 89 on the subject of the Blue Stones of Stonehenge was in Welsh, but during his lifetime he wrote over one hundred publications. He graduated from Aberystwyth and then studied at Cambridge but although he spent much of his life at English Universities his love and life was the Geology of Wales. At the age of 25 he was a member of the Geological Survey of Britain and played a major part in mapping the western part of the South Wales coalfield and Plynlimon. By 1910 he had been appointed to the Chair of Geology at Aberystwyth later the Chair at Manchester and finally Cambridge.
